O E BUCKLAND,

Offg Chief Secy to the Govt of Bengal

is pleased to grant to Messrs Kilburn and Company, of No 4 Fairlie Place, Calcutta, acting on behalf of the Calcutta Electric Supply Corporation, Limited, a license to supply electricity in the 'additional added area' of Calcutta, as specified in the second of the Schedules referred to in the license

No 51M P I — Notification (u) — The following license under the Calcutta Electric Lighting Act, IX of 1895, which has been granted to Messrs Kilburn & Co., of No 4 Fairlie Place, Calcutta, on behalf of the Calcutta Electric Supply Corporation, Limited, under authority of Government of Bengal Notification No 50M P I dated 2nd April 1901, is published for information in terms of Rule IX of the rules promulgated with this Department Notification No 66, dated 24th March 1896

D JOSELYNE,
Secy to the Govt of Bengal

THE CALCUTTA ELECTRIC LIGHTING LICENSE (ADDITIONAL ADDED AREA), 1901

The undertakers for the purpose of this license are Messrs Kilburn & Co., on behalf of "The Calcutta Electric Supply Corporation, Limited," being a Company registered under the English Companies Act, 1862 and 1890, with limited liability, and having its registered office at Mansion House Buildings, London, E C, with a local office, and accredited Agents, at 4 Fairlie Place, Calcutta

THE CALCUTTA ELECTRIC LIGHTING LICENSE (ADDITIONAL ADDED AREA) 1901 PRELIMINARY

1 This license may be cited as the Calcutta Electric Lighting License, 1901

2 This license is to be read and construed subject, in all respects to the provisions of the Calcutta Electric Lighting Act, 1895, and the several words, terms and expressions, to which, by that Act, meanings are assigned, shall have, in this license, the same respective meanings, provided that in this license

The expression "the Act" shall mean the said Calcutta Electric Lighting Act, 1895

The expression "energy" shall mean electrical energy, and for the purposes of applying the provisions of the Act to this license, electrical energy shall be deemed to be an agency within the meaning of electricity as defined in the Calcutta Electric Lighting Act, 1895

The expression "power" shall mean electrical power, or the rate per unit of time at which energy is supplied

The expression "main" shall mean any electric line, which may be laid down by the undertakers in any street or public place, and through which energy may be supplied, or intended to be supplied, by the undertakers, for the purposes of general supply,

The expression "service line" shall mean any electric line through which energy may be supplied or intended to be supplied by the undertakers, to a consumer, either from any main, or directly from the premises of the undertakers

The expression "distributing main" shall mean the portion of any main which is used for the purpose of giving origin to service lines for the purposes of general supply

The expression "general supply" shall mean the general supply of energy to ordinary consumers, and, unless otherwise specially agreed with the local authority, to the public lamps, but shall not include the supply of energy to any one or more particular consumers under special agreement

The expression "area of supply" shall mean the area within which the undertakers are, for the time being, authorised to supply energy under the provisions of this license

The expressions "first schedule," "second schedule," "third schedule," and "fourth schedule" shall mean the first, second, third, and fourth schedules to this license annexed, respectively

The expression "deposited map" shall mean the map of the area of supply deposited with the Local Government by the undertakers, together with the license, and signed by A B

For the purpose of this license, the word "plan" shall be held to mean a plan drawn to a horizontal scale of at least 1 inch to 100 feet, and a section drawn to a vertical scale of at least 1 inch to 10 feet, with such detail, plan and section as may be necessary

3 This license shall come into force, and have effect, upon the day when the notification, confirming this license, is published in the Calcutta Gazette, which date is, in this license, referred to as "the commencement of this license," and this license shall continue in force from that date until the 20th day of October 1913

Address and description of the undertakers

4 The undertakers for the purpose of this license are—Messrs Kilburn & Co., on behalf of The Calcutta Electric Supply Corporation, Limited, being a Company registered

under the English Companies Act, 1862 and 1890, with limited liability and having its registered office at Mansion House Buildings, London, E.C., with a local office, and accredited Agents, at 4 Fairlie Place, Calcutta

Provided that, if the undertaking, or any part thereof, is at any time purchased by, or transferred to, any other body, or persons, in accordance with the provisions of this license, or of the Act such body or persons shall, from the date of such purchase or transfer, be the undertakers in relation to such undertaking, or part thereof, for the purposes of this license, in lieu of the undertakers abovementioned

The undertakers shall not, at any time without the previous consent, in writing of the Local Government, purchase, or acquire the undertaking of or associate themselves with, any other Company or persons supplying, or intending to supply, energy within the City of Calcutta, and before applying for such consent the undertakers shall give one month's notice of the application to every local authority, both in the undertakers' area of supply and also in the area or district in which such other Company or person supplies or intends to supply energy, and every such local authority shall be entitled to be heard with respect to the application

If the undertakers purchase, or acquire, any undertaking or associate themselves with any other Company or person, in contravention of the provisions of this clause, the Local Government may revoke this license upon such terms as it may think just

Area of supply

5 Subject to the provisions of this license the area of supply shall be the whole of the area included in the first schedule, which said area is more particularly delineated upon the deposited map, and thereon coloured blue

6 The undertakers shall not, at any time after the commencement of this license, supply energy, or erect or lay down any electric lines, or works beyond the area of supply otherwise than under a license granted by the Local Government under the Act

If the undertakers supply energy, or erect or lay down, electric lines or works, in contravention of this section, the Local Government may revoke this license on such terms as it may think just

Security and Accounts

7 The undertakers, within a period of six months after the commencement of this license, and before exercising any of the powers by this license conferred on them in relation to the execution of works shall show to the satisfaction of the Local Government that they are in a position fully and efficiently to discharge the duties and obligations imposed upon them by this license throughout the area of supply

The undertakers shall within six months after the commencement of this license, or such extended period as may be approved by the Local Government and before exercising any of the powers conferred on them in relation to the execution of works, deposit or secure to the satisfaction of the Local Government, a sum equal to ten per cent of the probable outlay, subject to a limit of Rs 20 000 in respect of the area of supply, or such sums, in respect of the several local authorities' districts, which are wholly or partly comprised in the area of supply, not exceeding in the aggregate Rs 20 000 as the Local Government may direct

If within any such period as aforesaid, the undertakers fail to show, to the satisfaction of the Local Government, that they are in such a position as abovementioned, or fail to deposit, or secure, such sum or sums, as aforesaid, this license may be revoked by the Local Government as to the whole or, with the consent of the undertakers, any part of the area affected thereby, upon such terms as it may think just

Any sum or sums deposited or secured by the undertakers under the provisions of this section in respect of the area of supply, or of any such district, shall be repaid or released to them, from time to time in equal moieties, when, and so soon as, it may be certified by an Inspector to be appointed by the Local Government that amounts equal to the sums so to be repaid or released have been expended by the undertakers upon works executed for the purposes of the undertaking in such area or district, or that distributing mains have been duly laid down, in accordance with the provisions of this license, in every street or part of a street, specified in that behalf in the second schedule, and situate in such area or district or at such earliest dates, and by such instalments as may, from time to time, be approved by the Local Government

8 The undertakers shall, except with the special approval of the Local Government, to be previously given, at all times keep accounts of the capital employed for the purposes of the undertaking, distinct from the accounts kept by them in respect of any other undertaking or business

Nature and mode of supply

9 Subject to the provisions of this license and the Act, the undertakers may supply energy within the area of supply for all public and private purposes as defined by the Act provided as follows:—

(a) Such energy shall be supplied only by means of some system which shall be approved of by the Local Government, and subject to such regulations and conditions for securing the safety of the public, and for insuring a proper and sufficient supply of energy, as the Local Government may, from time to time, impose

- (b) The undertakers shall, in the use of electric power for the working of any tram way under the provisions of this license, employ either insulated metallic returns or un insulated metallic returns of low resistance, save in the case of any tramways or tramroads worked by the undertaking, in which the motive power may be entirely self-contained
- (c) The undertakers shall take all reasonable precautions in constructing, placing, and maintaining their electric lines and circuits, and other works of all descriptions, and also in working their undertaking so as not injuriously to affect by fusion or electrolytic action, any gas or water pipes, or other metallic pipes, structures, or substances
- (d) The exercise of the powers by this license conferred with respect to the use of electric power, shall be subject to the regulations set forth in this license, or under the said Act, and to any regulations which may be added thereto, or substituted therefor, respectively, by any order which the Local Government may make from time to time as, or when they may think fit, for regulating the employment of insulated metallic returns of low resistance for preventing fusion or injurious electrolytic action of, or on, gas or water pipes or other metallic pipes, structures or substances and for minimising as far as is reasonably practicable injurious interference with the electric wires, lines and apparatus of other parties and the currents therein, whether such lines do, or do not, use the earth as a return
- (e) The undertakers using electric power contrary to the provisions of this license or to any of the regulations set forth in the said Act or to any regulation added thereto, or substituted therefor, by any order made by the Local Government under the authority of this license or of the said Act shall, for every such offence, be subject to a penalty not exceeding Rs 100 and also in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding Rs 50, for every day during which such offence continues after conviction thereof

Provided always, that whether such penalty has been recovered or not the Local Government, in case, in their opinion the undertakers, in the use of electric power under the authority of this license have made default in complying with the provisions of this license, or of the said Act or with any of the regulations aforesaid may, by order, direct the undertakers to cease to use electric power and thereupon the undertakers shall cease to use electric power, and shall not again use the same unless with the authority of the Local Government

- (f) The undertakers shall take all reasonable and proper precautions in constructing, placing, and maintaining their electric lines, circuits and other works of any description, and in using their electric lines, circuits and other works so as not injuriously to interfere with the working of any wire line or apparatus from time to time used for the purpose of transmitting electric power, or of telegraphic, telephonic, or electric signalling communication, or the currents in such wire, line, or apparatus

Provided, always, that the undertakers shall be deemed to take all such reasonable and proper precautions, as aforesaid if and so long as, they adopt and employ, at the option of the undertakers, either such insulated returns, or such uninsulated metallic returns of low resistance, and such other means of preventing injurious interference with the electric wires, lines, and apparatus of other parties and the currents therein as the Local Government shall direct, and in giving such directions, the Local Government shall have regard to the expense involved, and to the effect thereof upon the commercial prospects of the undertaking

• Provided, also, that at the expiration of two years from the date on which the undertakers commence the public supply of electric power under the terms of this license nothing in this sub-clause shall operate to give any right of action in respect of or to protect any electric wires, lines, or apparatus, or the currents therein, unless, in the construction, erection, maintaining and working of such wires, lines, and apparatus, all reasonable and proper precautions, including the use of an insulated return, have been taken to prevent injurious interference therewith, and with the currents therein, by or from other electric currents

• If any difference arises between the undertakers and any other party with respect to anything in this sub-clause contained, such difference shall, unless the parties otherwise agree, be determined by the Local Government, or at the option of the Local Government, by an arbitrator to be appointed by the Local Government, and the costs of such determination shall be in the discretion of the Local Government, or of the arbitrator, as the case may be

- (g) Nothing in this sub-section shall apply to the use of any electric wire, circuit, or work, of the undertakers, used, or intended to be used, for the supply of energy
  - for electric lighting purposes, or for the purpose of providing motive power for domestic use, so far as such use is limited to such purposes

Works

10 Subject to the provisions of this license and the Act, the undertakers may, from time to time, exercise all or any of the powers conferred on them by this license and the Act, and may break up such streets not repairable by the Local Government or by the local authority, and such railways, tramways, and bridges (if any), as are specified in the third schedule, and open and break up any sewers, drains, or tunnels within, or under such streets, railways, tramways and bridges, so far as such streets, railways, tramways, and bridges may, for the time being be included in the area of supply and be or be upon, land dedicated to public use provided however, as respects any such railway, that the powers hereby granted shall extend only to such parts thereof as pass across or along, any highway on the level

Subject, as aforesaid, the undertakers may also, from time to time construct distributing boxes in any street for the purpose of supplying energy Every such distributing box shall be for the exclusive use of the undertakers and under their sole control, except so far as the Local Government may otherwise order, and shall be used by the undertakers only for the purpose of leading off service lines and other distributing conductors, or for examining, testing, regulating, measuring converting, directing or controlling the supply of energy, or for examining or testing the condition of the mains, or other portions of the works, or for other like purposes connected with the undertaking, and the undertakers may place therein meters, switches and any other suitable and proper apparatus for any of the above purposes and may maintain and use the same All work in connection with such distributing boxes shall be done at such times, and in such manner, as will cause as little obstruction and inconvenience as circumstances permit

11 The undertakers shall not without the express consent of the Local Government, place any electric line above ground, along over, or across any street

If the undertakers place any electric lines in contravention of this section, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees for every such offence, and in the case of a continuing offence, to a further penalty not exceeding fifty rupees for every day, after the first day, during which such offence continues

11a Whenever the undertakers shall, with such consent as aforesaid, place any electric line above ground, along over, or across any street, they shall pay to the Corporation of Calcutta for every pole whereon such line shall be supported or carried along, over, or across such street, the annual rent of one rupee and for every tripod whereon such line shall be so supported or carried, as aforesaid, the annual rent of two rupees, such rent to be paid on the first day of January in every year without deduction

12 Where the exercise of any of the powers of the undertakers in relation to the execution of any works (including the construction of distributing boxes) will involve the placing of any works in, under, along or across any street or public bridge repairable by the Local Government or by the local authority, the following provision shall have effect —

- (a) One month before commencing the execution of such works (not being the repairs renewals or amendments of existing works of which the character and position are not altered) the undertakers shall serve the notice upon the Local Government or the local authority, prescribed by section 7 of the Act describing the proposed works together with a plan of the works, showing the mode and position in which such works are intended to be executed, and the manner in which it is intended that such street or bridge, or any sewer drain, or tunnel therein or thereunder, is to be interfered with, and shall, upon being required to do so by the Local Government or the local authority from time to time, give it or them any such further information in relation thereto as it, or they, may desire
- (b) The Local Government or the local authority may, in its or their, discretion, approve of any such works or plan, subject to such amendments or conditions as may seem fit, or may disapprove the same, and may give notice of such approval or disapproval to the undertakers
- (c) If the Local Government or the local authority fail to give any such notice of approval or disapproval to the undertakers within one month after the service of the notice upon them, it, or they, shall be deemed to have approved such works and plan
- (d) Notwithstanding anything in this license or the Act, the undertakers shall not be entitled to execute any such works as above specified, except so far as the same may be of a description, and in accordance with a plan which has been approved, or is to be deemed to have been approved, by the Local Government and the local authority as abovementioned, under this license, but where any such works and plan are so approved or to be deemed to be approved, the undertakers may cause such works to be executed in accordance with such plan, subject, in all respects, to the provisions of this license and of the Act

- (e) If the undertakers make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section, they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they may be liable to make under the provisions of this license or the Act, make full compensation to the Local Government and the local authority for any loss or damage which it, or they, may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees for every such default and, in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding fifty rupees for every day after the first day during which such default continues provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalties as aforesaid if the court having cognizance of the case shall be of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances

For the purposes of this license the word ' plan ' shall be held to mean a plan drawn to a horizontal scale of at least 1 inch to 100 feet, and a section drawn to a vertical scale of at least 1 inch to 10 feet with such detail plan and section as may be necessary

13 Where the exercise of the powers of the undertakers in relation to the execution of any works will involve the placing of any works in, under, along, or across any street, or part of a street not repairable by the Local Government or the local authority or over or under any railway, tramway or canal, the following provisions shall have effect, unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested --

- (a) Fourteen days before commencing the execution of any such works (not being the repairs renewals or amendments of existing works of which the character and position are not altered), the undertakers shall in addition to any other notices which they may be required to give under this license or the Act serve a notice upon the body or person liable to repair such street or part of a street or the body or person for the time being entitled to work such railway or tramway, or the owners of such canal (as the case may be), in the section referred to as the ' owners ' describing the proposed works, and stating the amount of compensation (if any), proposed to be made in respect thereof and the manner in which such compensation is proposed to be paid or secured, together with a plan of the works showing the mode and position in which such works are intended to be executed and placed, and shall, upon being required to do so by any such owners from time to time, give them any such further information in relation thereto as they may desire
- (b) Every such notice shall contain a reference to this section, and direct the attention of the owners to whom it is given to the provisions thereof
- (c) Within one month after the service of any such notice and plan upon any owners such owners may, if they think fit, serve a requisition upon the undertakers requiring that any question in relation to such works and any other question arising upon such notice or plan as aforesaid, shall be settled by arbitration and thereupon such question shall be settled by arbitration accordingly
- (d) In settling any question under this section, an arbitrator shall have regard to any duties or obligations which the owners may be under in respect of such street railway, tramway, or canal and may if he thinks fit, require the undertakers to execute any temporary, or other works, so as to avoid any interference with any traffic, so far as may be possible
- (e) Where no such requisition, as in this section mentioned is served upon the undertakers, or where after any such requisition has been served upon them any question required to be settled by arbitration has been so settled the undertakers may, upon paying or securing any compensation which they may be required to pay or secure in the manner proposed by them or settled by arbitration as aforesaid, cause to be executed the works specified in such notice and plan as aforesaid, and may, from time to time, repair, renew and amend the same (provided that their character and position are not altered) but subject in all respects, to the provisions of this license and the Act, and only in accordance with the notice and plan so served by them as aforesaid or such modifications thereof, respectively, as may have been settled by arbitration, as hereinbefore mentioned, or as may be agreed upon between the parties
- (f) If the undertakers make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section, they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they may be liable to make under the provisions of this license or the Act) make full compensation to the owners affected thereby for any loss or damage which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees for every such default, and, in the case of a continuing offence, to a further penalty not exceeding fifty rupees for every day, after the first day, during which such default continues provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalties, as aforesaid, if the court having cognizance of the case shall be of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements of this section, so far as was reasonable under the circumstances

14 The undertakers may from time to time alter the position of any pipes (not forming part of any main sewer of the local authority), or any wires, being under any street or place authorised to be broken up by them which may interfere with the exercise of their powers under the Act or this license and any body or person may in like manner, alter the position of any electric lines or works of the undertakers being under any such street or place as aforesaid, which may interfere with the lawful exercise of any powers vested in such body or person in relation to such street or place, subject to the following provisions, unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested—

- (a) Fourteen days before commencing any such alteration, the undertakers, or such body or person (as the case may be) in this section referred to as "the operators" shall serve a notice upon the body or person for the time being entitled to such pipes, wires, electric lines or works (as the case may be) in this section referred to as "the owners" describing the proposed alteration and stating the amount of compensation (if any), proposed to be made in respect thereof, and the manner in which such compensation (if any) is proposed to be paid or secured together with a plan showing the manner in which it is intended that such alterations shall be made, and shall upon being required to do so by any such owners from time to time give them any such further information in relation thereto as they may desire
- (b) Within seven days after the service of any such notice and plan upon any owners, such owners may if they think fit serve a requisition upon the operators requiring that any question in relation to such works, or any other question arising upon such notice or plan, as aforesaid shall be settled by arbitration and thereupon such question shall be settled by arbitration accordingly
- (c) In settling any question under this section an arbitrator shall have regard to any duties or obligations which the owners may be under in respect of such pipes wires electric lines or works and may if he think fit require the operators to execute any temporary or other works so as to avoid interference with any purpose for which such pipes, wires, electric lines or works are used, so far as may be possible
- (d) Where no such requisition as in this section mentioned is served upon the operators, the owners shall be held to have agreed to the notice or plan served on them as aforesaid and in such case or where, after any such requisition has been served upon them, any question required to be settled by arbitration has been so settled the operators, upon paying or securing any compensation which they may be required to pay or secure in the manner proposed by them or settled by arbitration as aforesaid, may cause the alterations specified in such notice and plan, as aforesaid to be made, but subject, in all respects, to the provisions of this license and the Act and only in accordance with the notice and plan so served by them, as aforesaid, or such modifications thereof respectively, as may have been settled by arbitration, as hereinbefore mentioned or as may be agreed upon between the parties
- (e) At any time, before any operators are entitled to commence any such alterations as aforesaid, the owners may serve a statement upon the operators stating that they desire to execute such alterations themselves, and where any such statement has been served upon the operators, they shall not be entitled to proceed, themselves to execute such alterations, except where they have notified to such owners that they require them to execute such alterations, and such owners have refused, or neglected to comply with such notification, as hereinafter provided
- (f) Where any such statement, as last aforesaid, has been served upon the operators, they shall, not more than forty eight hours, and not less than twenty four hours before the execution of such alterations is required to be commenced, serve a notification upon the owners stating the time when such alterations are required to be commenced, and the manner in which such alterations are required to be made
- (g) Upon receipt of any such notification as last aforesaid the owners may proceed to execute such alterations as required by the operators, subject to the like restrictions and conditions as the operators would themselves be subject to in executing such alterations, so far as the same may be applicable
- (h) If the owners decline, or, for twenty four hours after the time when any such alterations are required to be commenced, neglect to comply with such notification the operators may, themselves, proceed to execute such alterations in like manner as they might have done if no such statement, as aforesaid, had been served upon them

- (i) Expenses incurred by any owners in complying with any notification of any operators under the last preceding sub sections shall be repaid to them by such operators and may be recovered through a court of competent jurisdiction
- (j) Any owners may, if they think fit, by any statement served by them upon any operators under this section, require the operators to give them such security for the repayment to them of any expenses to be incurred by them in executing any alterations as abovementioned as may be agreed upon between such owners and operators or, in default of agreement as may be determined by arbitration and where any operators have been so required to give security they shall not be entitled to serve a notification upon the owners requiring them to execute such alterations until such security has been duly given
- (7) If the operators make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they may be liable to make under the provisions of this license or the Act) make full compensation to the owners affected thereby for any loss, damage or penalty which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees for every such default, and in the case of a continuing offence, to a further penalty not exceeding fifty rupees for every day after the first day during which such default continues provided that the operators shall not be subject to any such additional penalties as aforesaid if the Court having cognizance of the case shall be of opinion that the case was one of emergency and that the operators complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances

15 Whenever the undertakers require to dig or sink any trench for laying down any new electric lines (other than service lines), or other works near to which any pipe, sewer drain water course defence or work under the jurisdiction or control of the Local Government or of any local authority, or belonging to any

duly authorized Company or any branch or service pipe for the supply of gas or water has been lawfully placed or where any duly authorized Company requires to dig or sink any trench for laying down any new mains or pipes other than service pipes or other apparatus, near to which any lines or works of the undertakers have been lawfully placed, the undertakers or such duly authorized Company (as the case may be), in this section referred to as the "operators" shall unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested give to the Local Government, or local authority or to such duly authorized Company or to the undertakers (as the case may be), in this section referred to as the "owners" not more than forty eight hours, and not less than twenty four hours notice before commencing to dig or sink such trench as aforesaid, and such owners shall be entitled by their officer to superintend the digging or sinking of such trench and the operators shall conform with such reasonable requirements as may from time to time, be made by the owners or such officer for the protection of every such sewer drain, water course, defence pipe electric line, or work, and for securing the same from injury, and they shall also if required to do so by the owners thereof, repair any damage that may be done thereto

If the operators make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section, they shall make full compensation to all owners affected thereby for any loss or damage which they may incur by reason thereof and in addition thereto, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees for every such default, and, in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding fifty rupees for every day, after the first day during which such default continues provided that the operators shall not be subject to any such penalty if the court having cognizance of the case shall be of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the operators complied with the requirements and restrictions of this section, as far as was reasonable under the circumstances, or that the default in question was due to the fact that the operators were ignorant of the position of the sewer drain, water course, defence pipe electric line or work affected thereby, and that such ignorance was not owing to any negligence on the part of the operators.

16 Seven days before commencing to lay down, or place any electric line, or to use any electric line in any manner whereby the work of telegraphic or telephonic or electric signalling communication through any wire or line lawfully laid down, or placed in any position may be injuriously affected, the undertakers shall, unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested give to the owner of such wire or line, notice in writing, specifying the course nature and gauge of such electric line, and the manner in which such electric line is intended to be used, and the amount, and nature of the currents intended to be transmitted thereby and the extent to, and manner in which (if at all), earth returns are proposed to be used, and any owner entitled to receive such notices may, from time to time, serve a requisition on the undertakers, requiring them to adopt such precautions as may be therein specified in regard to the laying, placing or user of such electric line for the purpose of preventing such injurious affection, and the undertakers shall conform with such reasonable requirements as may be made by such owner for the purpose of preventing the communication through such wire or line from being injuriously affected as aforesaid

If any difference arises between any such owner and the undertakers with respect to the reasonableness of any requirements so made, such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

Provided that nothing in this sub section shall apply to repairs or renewals of any electric line, so long as the course, nature and gauge of such electric line, and the amount and nature of the current transmitted thereby are not altered.

If the undertakers make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section, they shall make full compensation to the body or person entitled to any such wire or line, for any loss or damage which they may incur by reason thereof, and, in addition thereto, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees for every such default, and, in the case of a continuing offence, to a further penalty not exceeding twenty rupees for every day, after the first day, during which such default continues, provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalties as aforesaid if the court having cognizance of the case shall be of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements and restrictions of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances, or that the default in question was due to the fact that the undertakers were ignorant of the position of the wires or lines affected thereby, and that such ignorance was not owing to any negligence on the part of the undertakers.

Compulsory Works

17 The undertakers shall, within a period of two years after the commencement of this license lay down suitable and sufficient distributing mains for the purposes of general supply throughout every street, or part of a street, specified in that behalf in the second schedule and shall thereafter maintain the same.

18 In addition to the mains specified in the last preceding section the undertakers shall, at any time after the expiration of eighteen months after the commencement of this order, lay down suitable and sufficient distributing mains for the purposes of general supply throughout every other street, or part of a street, within the area of supply, upon being required to do so in manner by this license provided.

All such mains as last abovementioned shall be laid down by the undertakers within six months after any requisition in that behalf served upon them in accordance with the provisions of this license has become binding upon them, or such further time as may in any case, be approved of by the Local Government.

19 If the undertakers make default in laying down any mains in accordance with the provisions of this license within the periods prescribed in that behalf respectively, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees in respect of each such default for each day during which such default continues, and, if the Local Government are of opinion in any case that such default is wilful, and unreasonably prolonged they may themselves or upon the application of the local authority revoke this license as to the whole, or with the consent of the undertakers, any part of the area of supply, or if the undertakers so desire, may, after having given an opportunity to the local authority to make representations and objections with reference thereto, suffer the same to remain in force as to such area or part thereof subject to such conditions as they may think fit to impose and any conditions so imposed shall be binding on and observed by, the undertakers and shall be of the like force and effect in every respect, as though they were contained in this license.

20 Any requisition requiring the undertakers to lay down distributing mains for the purposes of general supply throughout any street or part of a street, under the last preceding sections may be made by six or more owners or occupiers of premises along such street, or part of a street or, where the Local Government or the local authority has the control and management of the public lamps in such street, or part of a street by the Local Government or the local authority.

Every such requisition shall be signed by the owners and occupiers making such requisition, or by the Local Government or the local authority (as the case may be) and shall be served upon the undertakers.

Forms of requisition shall be kept by the undertakers at their office, and a copy shall be supplied free of charge, to any owner or occupier of premises within the area of supply, and to the Local Government and the local authority, on applying for the same, and any requisition so supplied shall be deemed valid in point of form.

21 When any such requisition is made by any such owners or occupiers, as aforesaid the undertakers (if they think fit) may, within fourteen days after the service of the requisition upon them, serve a notice on all the persons by whom such requisition is signed, stating that they decline to be bound by such requisition, unless such persons, or some of them, will bind themselves to take a supply of energy for three years, of such amount in the aggregate (to be specified by the undertakers in such notice), as will, at the rates of charge for the time being charged by the undertakers for a supply of energy from distributing mains to ordinary consumers within the area of supply, produce, annually, such reasonable sum as shall be specified by the undertakers in such notice provided that, in such notice the undertakers shall not be required to specify any sum amounting to less than twenty per centum upon the expense of providing, and laying down, the required distributing mains and any other mains or additions to existing mains which may be necessary for the purpose of connecting such distributing mains with the nearest available source of supply.

Where such notice is served, the requisition shall not be binding on the undertakers unless within fourteen days after the service of such notice on all the persons signing the requisition has been effected, or, in the case of difference the delivery of the arbitrator's award, there be tendered to the undertakers an agreement severally executed by such persons or some of them binding them to take, for a period of three years at the least such specified amounts of energy, respectively as will in the aggregate at the rates of charge above specified, produce an annual sum amounting to not less than twenty per centum upon the expense of providing and laying down such distributing main, or other mains, as above mentioned nor unless sufficient security for the payment, to the undertakers, of all moneys which may become due to them from such persons under such agreement, is offered to the undertakers (if required by them by such notice as aforesaid) within the period limited for the tender of the agreement as aforesaid.

If any difference arises between the undertakers and any persons signing any such requisition as to the reasonableness of the amount specified by the undertakers in their notice or as to the sufficiency of any security offered to them under the section such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

22 Where any such requisition is made by the Local Government or the local authority it shall not be binding on the undertakers unless at the time when such service is effected or within fourteen days thereafter there be tendered to the undertakers (if required by them) an agreement executed by the Local Government or the local authority and binding them to take for a period of three years at the least, a supply of energy for lighting such public lamp in the street or part of a street in respect of which such requisition is made as may be under their management or control.

23 The undertakers shall forthwith after commencing to supply energy under this licence cause a map to be made of the area of supply on a horizontal scale of at least 1 inch to 100 feet and shall cause to be marked thereon the line of all their then existing mains, service lines and other underground works and distributing boxes and shall once in every year cause such map to be corrected and such additions to be made thereto as will show the line of all their then existing mains service lines and other underground works and distributing boxes.

24 Every map so made, or corrected for the undertakers, or a copy thereof with the date expressed thereon of the last time when it was so corrected, shall be left by the undertakers at their principal office within the area of supply and a copy of every such map shall within one month after such map is made or corrected be served by the undertakers upon the Local Government and upon the local authority.

Every copy of the said map, as last corrected, which may be served upon the local authority shall be kept by them at their office and shall at all reasonable times be open to the inspection of all applicants, and such applicants may take copies of the same or any part thereof. The local authority may demand and take from every such applicant, as aforesaid such fee not exceeding one rupee for each inspection of such map or copy and such further fee not exceeding one rupee, for each copy of the same or any part thereof taken by such applicant, as they may, from time to time prescribe.

25 If the undertakers fail to comply with any of the requirements of the last preceding section of this licence with respect to maps they shall, for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees, and to a further penalty not exceeding twenty rupees for every day, after the first day during which such offence continues.

Testing

26 The Local Government shall from time to time appoint and keep appointed one or more competent and impartial persons to be electric inspectors for the purpose of inspecting electric lines and works and of certifying meters under this order.

27 The Local Government shall pay to every electric inspector appointed under this licence such reasonable remuneration (if any) as they may from time to time, determine and such remuneration may be in addition to, or in substitution for, any fees which are directed to be paid to electric inspectors for services rendered by them under this licence, as may be settled by the authority by whom such remuneration is determined provided that, where any such remuneration is settled to be in substitution for such fees as aforesaid, such fees shall in lieu of being paid to such electric inspector for his own use be due and paid to him on behalf, and for the use of the Local Government, and shall be deposited by them in the public treasury.

28 Every electric inspector, if and when required to do so by the authority by whom he is appointed, shall, from time to time, test, for insulation and conductivity, any portion of any main of the undertakers within the area of supply through which energy is or is intended to be, supplied by them provided that such testings shall not be made in regard to any particular portion of a main oftener than once in any three months, unless in pursuance of a special order in that behalf made by the Local Government

29 Every electric inspector if and when required to do so by any person supplied with energy by the undertakers, shall from time to time, test for insulation and conductivity any service lines by which such energy is supplied and the efficiency of any joints in such service lines, and make such other tests in relation to such service lines as may, from time to time, be approved of by the Local Government

30 Notice shall be given to the undertakers before the commencement of any testing by an electric inspector and such testing shall be carried out at such suitable hours as in the opinion of such inspector, will least interfere with the supply of energy by the undertakers, and in such manner as such inspector may think expedient, but except under the provisions of a special order in that behalf made by the Local Government, he shall not be entitled to have access to or interfere with, the mains of the undertakers at any points other than those at which the undertakers have reserved for themselves access to the said mains provided that the undertakers shall not be held responsible for any interruption in the supply of energy which may be occasioned by or required by such inspector for the purpose of any such testing as aforesaid

31 Every electric inspector shall on the day immediately following that on which any testing has been completed by him under this license, make, and deliver, a report of the results of his testing, to the authority or person by whom he was required to make such testing and to the undertakers, and such report shall be receivable in evidence

If the undertakers or any authority, company, or person are, or is, dissatisfied with any report of any electric inspector, they may appeal to the Local Government against such report, and thereupon the Local Government shall enquire into, and decide upon, the matter of any such appeal, and their decision shall be final and binding on all parties

32 The undertakers shall, at such places within a reasonable distance from any distributing main, establish, at their own cost such reasonable number of testing stations as the Local Government shall deem sufficient, for testing the supply of energy by the undertakers through such main, and shall place thereat proper and suitable instruments of a pattern to be approved by the Local Government and shall connect such stations, by means of proper and sufficient electric lines, with such mains, and supply energy thereto for the purpose of such testing

33 The undertakers shall set up, and keep upon all premises from which they supply energy by any distributing mains such suitable and proper instruments of such pattern and construction as may be, from time to time, approved of, or prescribed by the Local Government, and shall, from time to time, take, and record, and keep recorded, such observations as the Local Government from time to time prescribe, and any observations so recorded shall be receivable in evidence

34 The undertakers shall keep in efficient working order all instruments which they are required by, or under this license, to place, set up, or keep at any testing station, or on their own premises, and any electric inspector appointed under this license may, from time to time, examine and record the readings of such instruments at such times, and in such manner as he may be directed by the authority by whom he is appointed, and any readings so recorded shall be receivable in evidence

35 Any electric inspector appointed under this license shall have the right to have access, at all reasonable hours to the testing places and premises of the undertakers, for the purpose of testing the electric lines and instruments of the undertakers, and ascertaining if the same are in order, and in case the same are not in order, he may require the undertakers forthwith to have the same put in order

36 The undertakers may, if they think fit, on each occasion of the testing of any main or service line or the testing or inspection of any instruments of the undertakers by any electric inspector, be represented by some officer or other agent, but such officer or agent shall not interfere with the testing or inspection

37 All expenses of testing by an electric inspector, including such reasonable fees to the electric inspector as may, from time to time, be prescribed in that behalf by the local authority, with the approval of the Local Government, shall be paid by the undertakers, unless the report of the electric inspector, or in the case of an appeal, the decision of the Local Government, shows that the local authority, or any body or person supplied with energy, was guilty of any default or negligence, and in such case the expenses of the testing including such fees as aforesaid, shall be ascertained by a court of competent jurisdiction and paid by such local authority body, or person, as the court shall direct

38 The undertakers shall afford all facilities for the proper execution of this license with respect to testing, and the readings and inspection of instruments and shall comply with all the requirements of or under this license in that behalf, and, in case the undertakers make default in complying with any of the provisions of this section they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further penalty not exceeding ten rupees for every day, after the first day during which such offence continues

39 If at any time, it appears to the Local Government that any mains, electric lines or works of the undertakers are defective and not in accordance with the regulations and conditions subject to which the undertakers are for the time being, authorized to supply energy under this license, the Local Government may, by order in writing, require the undertakers to remedy such defect, so as to comply with such regulations and conditions within such period as may be therein limited in that behalf, and if the undertakers make default in remedying such defect within the time so limited, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two hundred rupees for every day during which such default continues provided that if such defect is in the opinion of the Local Government, dangerous to public safety, they may also, by any such order as aforesaid, forbid the use of such main, electric line, or work, from such date as may be specified in that behalf until the defect is remedied, and if the undertakers make use of any such main, electric line or work while the use thereof is so forbidden they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees for every day during which such uses continue

Supply

40 The undertakers shall, upon being required to do so by the owners or occupier of any premises situate within fifty yards from any distributing main of the undertakers in which they are for the time being required to maintain a supply of energy for the purposes of general supply to private consumers under this license, or any regulations and conditions subject to which they are authorized to supply energy under this license, give and continue to give, a supply of energy for such premises, in accordance with the provisions of this license, and of all such regulations and conditions as aforesaid, and they shall furnish, and lay, any electric lines that may be necessary for the purpose of supplying the maximum power with which any such owner or occupier may be entitled to be supplied under this license subject to the conditions following (that is to say), the cost of so much or any electric line for the supply of energy to any owner, or occupier as may be laid upon the property of such owner or in the possession of such occupier and of so much of any such electric lines as may be laid for a greater distance than sixty feet from any distributing main of the undertakers, although not on such property, shall be defrayed by such owner or occupier

41 Every owner or occupier of premises requiring a supply of energy shall

- (a) serve a notice upon the undertakers specifying the premises in respect of which such supply is required and the maximum power required to be supplied and the day (not being an earlier day than a reasonable time after the date of the service of such notice) upon which such supply is required to commence and
- (b) enter into a written contract with the undertakers (if required by them so to do) to continue to receive, and pay for, a supply of energy for a period of at least three years, of such an amount that the rent payable for the same at the rate of charge for the time being charged by the undertakers for a supply of energy to ordinary consumers within the area of supply shall not be less than twenty rupees per centum per annum on the outlay incurred by the undertakers in providing any electric lines required to be provided by them for the purpose of such supply, and give to the undertakers (if required by them so to do) security for the payment to them of all moneys which may, from time to time become due to them by such owner or occupier in respect of any electric lines to be furnished by the undertakers, and in respect of energy to be supplied by them

Provided, always, that the undertakers may, after they have given a supply of energy for any premises by notice in writing require the owner or occupier of such premises, within seven days after the date of the service of such notice, to give to them security for the payment of all moneys which may, from time to time, become due to them in respect of such supply, in case such owner or occupier has not already given such security, or in case any security given has become invalid, or is insufficient and in case any such owner or occupier fail to comply with the terms of such notice the undertakers may if they think fit discontinue to supply energy for such premises so long as such failure continues

Provided also, that if the owner or occupier of any such premises, as aforesaid uses any form of lamp or burner, or uses the energy supplied to him by the undertakers for any purpose or deals with it in any manner so as to unduly or improperly interfere with the efficient supply of energy to any other body or person by the undertakers, the undertakers may if they think fit, discontinue to supply energy to such premises so long as such use continues.

Provided also that the undertakers shall not be compelled to give a supply of energy to any premises, unless they are reasonably satisfied that the electric lines fittings and works therein are in good order and condition and not calculated to affect injuriously the use of energy by the undertakers or by other persons.

Provided also that in the event of any alterations of or additions to any electric lines fittings or works within such premises as aforesaid all such alterations or additions shall be notified to the undertakers by the occupiers before being connected to the source of supply with a view to their being examined and tested.

If any difference arises between any such owner or occupier and the undertakers as to the reasonableness of the amount of any security required to be given, or as to the sufficiency of any security offered under this section or as to the improper use of energy or as to any alleged defect in any lines fitting, or works such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

42 The maximum power with which any such consumer shall be entitled to be supplied shall be of such amount as he may from time to time require to be supplied with not exceeding what may be reasonably anticipated as the maximum consumption on his premises.

Provided that where any consumer has required the undertakers to supply him with a maximum power of any specified amount he shall not be entitled to alter that maximum except upon one month's notice to the undertakers and any expenses incurred by the undertakers in respect of the service lines by which energy is supplied to the premises of such consumer or any fittings or apparatus of the undertakers upon such premises consequent upon such alteration shall be paid by him to the undertakers and may be recovered summarily as a civil debt.

If any difference arises between any such owner or occupier and the undertakers as to what may be reasonably anticipated as the consumption on his premises such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

43 The undertakers upon receiving reasonable notice from the Local Government or the local authority requiring them to supply energy to any public lamps within the distance of seventy-five yards from any distributing main of the undertakers in which they are for the time being required to maintain a current of energy for the purposes of general supply under this license or any regulation and conditions subject to which they are authorised to supply energy under this license, shall give and continue to give a supply of energy to such lamps in such quantities as the Local Government or the local authority may, from time to time require to be supplied.

44 Whenever the undertakers make default in supplying energy to any owner or occupier of premises to whom they may be and are required to supply energy under this license, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty rupees in respect of every such default for each day during which any such default occurs.

Whenever the undertakers make default in supplying energy to the public lamps to which they may be, and are required to supply energy under this license, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty rupees in respect of every such default for each such lamp, and for each day during which any such default occurs.

Whenever the undertakers make default in supplying energy in accordance with the terms of any regulations and conditions subject to which they are authorised to supply energy under this license they shall be liable to such penalties as may, by such regulations and conditions be prescribed in that behalf.

Provided, always that when such default is due to cyclones or floods or storms, or other causes not under the control of or due to default of, the undertakers, no penalty shall be enforced if the undertakers show due diligence in resuming the supply.

Provided that the penalties to be inflicted on the undertakers under this section shall in no case exceed in the aggregate, the sum of five hundred rupees in respect of any defaults not being wilful defaults, on the part of the undertakers for any one day, and provided also that in no case shall any penalty be inflicted in respect of any default if the court having cognizance of the case shall be of opinion that such default was caused by inevitable accident, or force majeure, or was of so slight or unimportant a character as not materially to affect the value of the supply.

Price

45 The undertakers may charge for energy supplied by them to any ordinary consumer (otherwise than by agreement)—

(1) by the actual amount of energy so supplied, or Method of charging

- (2) by the electrical amount contained in such supply, or, unless the Local Government, from time to time, otherwise direct
- (3) by the number of hours during which the supply of energy is actually used by such consumer and the maximum power with which he is, for the time being, entitled to be supplied

Provided that, before commencing to supply energy through any distributing main for the purposes of general supply the undertakers shall give notice to the Local Government and to the local authority, by what method they propose to charge for energy supplied through such main, and, where the undertakers have given any such notice they shall not be entitled to change such method of charging, except after one month's notice of such change has been given by them to the Local Government and the local authority, and to every consumer of energy who is supplied by them from such main

Provided, also that when the undertakers have given notice to any consumer of charging him by the number of hours, and the maximum power, in manner above described such consumer, if he objects to that method of charge may, by one month's notice in writing require the undertakers to charge him by the actual quantity of energy supplied to him and thereafter the undertakers shall not, except with the consumer's consent, charge him by any other method

- 46 The prices to be charged by the undertakers for energy supplied by them shall not exceed those stated in that behalf in the fourth schedule in the first second and third sections thereof respectively

Provided that if the Local Government are of opinion that, or the local authority or the undertakers shall, at any time after the expiration of seven years after the commencement of this license make a representation to the Local Government that the prices or methods of charge stated in the said schedule ought to be altered the Local Government after such enquiry as they may think fit may make an order varying the prices, or methods of charge, in lieu thereof and the prices or methods of charge so varied or substituted shall have effect on and after such day as may be mentioned in the order as if they had been stated in the said schedule

Provided also, that the prices and methods of charge for the time being in force, may be altered, in like manner at any time after the expiration of any or every period of seven years after the same were last altered

47 Subject to the provisions of this license and of the principal Act, and the right of the consumer to require that he shall be charged according to some one or other of the methods above mentioned in cases where he is entitled to require a supply the undertakers may make any agreement with a consumer as to the price to be charged for energy, and the mode in which such charges are to be ascertained and may charge accordingly

48 The price to be charged by the undertakers and to be paid to them for all energy supplied to the public lamps and the mode in which such charges shall be ascertained shall be settled by agreement between the Local Government or local authority and the undertakers as the case may be and, in the event of difference by arbitration regard being had to the circumstances of the case, and the distributing or other mains (if any) which may have to be laid for the purpose and the prices charged to ordinary consumers in the district

Meters and Apparatus

49 The energy supplied by the undertakers to any ordinary consumers under this license, or the electrical quantity contained in such supply (according to the method by which the undertakers elect to charge), in this license referred to as 'the value of the supply,' shall, except as otherwise agreed between such consumer and the undertakers be ascertained by means of an appropriate meter, duly certified under the provisions of this license

50 A meter shall be considered to be duly certified under the provisions of this license if it be certified by an electric inspector, appointed under this license, to be of some construction and pattern, and to have been fixed, and to have been connected with the service lines, in some manner approved of by the Local Government, and to be a correct meter, and every such meter is, in this order referred to as a "certified meter" provided that, where any alteration is made in any certified meter or where any such meter is unfixed, or disconnected from the service lines, such meter shall cease to be a certified meter, unless, and until, it be again certified as a certified meter under the provisions of this license

51 Every electric inspector who may be required by the undertakers, or by any consumer, to examine any meter for the purpose of certifying the same as a certified meter, under the provisions of this license, shall be entitled to demand, from the undertakers, or consumer, so requiring him, and to be paid, such fees as may, from time to time, be determined, in that behalf, by the Local Government, before commencing such examination, and every electric inspector shall, upon being required so to do by the undertakers, or any such consumer, as aforesaid, examine any meter situate within the district for which he is appointed, if such fees are offered to him, as aforesaid, and shall certify the same as a certified meter if he considers it entitled to be so certified

52 Where the value of the supply is under this license, required to be ascertained by means of an appropriate meter the undertakers shall, if required so to do by the consumer, supply him with an appropriate meter and shall, if required so to do fix the same upon the premises of the consumer and connect the service lines therewith and procure such meter to be duly certified under the provisions of this license and for such purposes, may authorise and empower any officer or person to enter upon such premises, and execute all necessary works, and do all necessary acts provided that, previously to supplying any such meter, the undertakers may require such consumer to pay to them a reasonable sum in respect of the price of such meter or to give security therefor or may require him to enter into an agreement for the hire of such meter as hereinafter provided, and also to pay to them a reasonable sum in respect of the expenses of fixing such meter and connecting it with the service lines, and procuring the same to be certified under this license

If any difference arises between the undertakers and any consumer under this section, such difference shall be determined by arbitration

53 No consumer shall connect any meter used, or to be used under this license, for ascertaining the value of the supply with any electric line through which energy is supplied by the undertakers, or disconnect any such meter from any such electric line, unless he has given, to the undertakers, not less than forty eight hours notice in writing of his intention so to do, and if any person acts in contravention of this section, he shall be liable for each offence to a penalty not exceeding twenty rupees

54 Every consumer of energy supplied by the undertakers shall at all times, at his own expense, keep all meters belonging to him whereby the value of the supply is, under this license, to be ascertained, in proper order for correctly registering such value, and, in default of his so doing, the undertakers may cease to supply energy through such meter

The undertakers shall have access to, and be at liberty to take off, remove, test in respect, and replace any such meter at all reasonable times provided that all reasonable expenses of, and incident to any such taking off, removing testing, inspecting, and replacing and the procuring such meter to be again duly certified where such recertifying is thereby rendered necessary, shall if the meter be found to be not in proper order, be paid by the consumer but if the same be in proper order all expenses connected therewith shall be paid by the undertakers

55 The undertakers may let for hire any meter for ascertaining the value of the supply and any fittings thereto, and any other apparatus required for their undertaking, for such remuneration in money, and on such terms, with respect to the repair of such meter or apparatus and fittings and for securing the safety and return, to the undertakers, of such meter or apparatus and fittings as may be agreed upon between the hirer and the undertakers or in case of difference be decided by the Local Government, and such remuneration shall be recoverable by the undertakers summarily as a civil debt

56 The undertakers shall unless the agreement of hire otherwise provides, at all times, at their own expense, keep all meters let for hire by them to any consumer, whereby the value of the supply is ascertained, in proper order for correctly registering such value and, in default of their so doing, the consumer shall not be liable to pay rent for the same during such time as such default continues The undertakers shall, for the purposes aforesaid, have access to and be at liberty to remove, test, inspect and replace any such meter at all reasonable times provided that the expenses of procuring any such meter to be again duly certified, where such recertifying is thereby rendered necessary, shall be paid by the undertakers

57 If any difference arises between any consumer and the undertakers as to whether any meter, whereby the value of the supply is ascertained (whether belonging to such consumer or the undertakers), is or is not, in proper order for correctly registering such value, or as to whether such value has been correctly registered in any case by any meter, such difference shall be determined, upon the application of either party by an electric inspector, or, where the Local Government are the consumers, by an officer to be appointed by the Local Government, who shall also order by which of the parties the costs of the proceedings before him shall be paid and the decision of such inspector or officer shall be final and binding on all parties Subject, as aforesaid, the register of the meter shall be conclusive evidence, in the absence of fraud, of the value of the supply

58 Where any consumer, who is supplied with energy by the undertakers from any distributing main, is provided with a certified meter for the purpose of ascertaining the value of the supply and the undertakers change the method of charging for energy supplied by them from such main, the undertakers shall pay to such consumer the reasonable expenses to which he may be put in providing a new meter for the purpose of ascertaining the value of the supply according to such new method of charging and such expenses may be recovered by the consumer from the undertakers summarily as a civil debt

59 In addition to any meter which may be placed upon the premises of any consumer to ascertain the value of the supply the undertakers may from time to time, place upon his premises such meter, or other apparatus, as they may desire, for the purpose of ascertaining or regulating either the amount of energy supplied to such consumer, or the number of hours during which such supply is given or the maximum amount of such supply or any other quantity or time, connected therewith provided that such meter shall be of some construction and pattern and shall be fixed and connected with the service lines in some manner approved by the Local Government and shall be supplied and maintained entirely at the cost of the undertakers and shall not except by agreement, be placed otherwise than between the mains of the undertakers and the terminals on the consumer's premises at which the supply is given

Notices, &c

60 Notices, orders and other documents under this license may be in writing or in print, or partly in writing and partly in print and where any notice order or document requires authentication by the local authority, the signature thereof by the Chairman or Secretary to the local authority shall be sufficient authentication

61 Any notice, order, or document, required or authorised to be served upon any body or person under this license or the Act may be served by the same being addressed to such body or person and being left at, or transmitted through the post to, the following addresses respectively —

- (a) In the case of the Local Government, the office of the Secretary in the Public Works Department
- (b) In the case of any local authority the office of such local authority
- (c) In the case of the undertakers, or any other Company having a registered office, the registered office of the undertaker, or such Company
- (d) In the case of Company having an office, or offices, but no registered office, any such office
- (e) In the case of any other person, the usual or last known place of abode of such person

Where any notice is served by post, it shall be deemed to have been served at the time when the letter containing the notice would be delivered in the ordinary course of post, and, in proving such service, it shall be sufficient to prove that the letter containing the notice was properly addressed and put into the post

A notice order, or document, by this license required, or authorised to be served on the owner, or occupier of any of the premises, shall be deemed to be properly addressed if addressed by the description of the owner or occupier of the premises (naming the premises) without further name or description

A notice, order, or document by this license required, or authorised to be served on the owner, or occupier, of premises, may be served by delivering the same or a true copy thereof, to some person on the premises, or if there is no person on the premises to whom the same can with reasonable diligence, be delivered, by fixing the notice on some conspicuous part of the premises

61A If this license shall not be renewed at the end of the said period of 21 years, for which it is hereby granted, the following provisions shall have effect —

- (a) The local authority, or the Local Government, if they think fit, may, by notice in writing require the undertakers to sell, and thereupon the undertakers shall sell to them, the undertaking or such part of it as is within the area of supply, upon terms of paying the then value of all lands building, works, materials, and plant of the undertakers suitable to and used by them for the purposes of the undertaking within such area, or part thereof such value being agreed, or estimated by arbitration, on the basis of the value of the undertaking as a going concern
- (b) If no purchase is effected by the Local Government or the local authority, under the provisions aforesaid, the undertakers shall be at liberty to sell and dispose of the said undertaking and all lands, buildings, works, materials, and plant, of the undertakers, to such persons and in such manner as, to the undertakers, may seem fit, in their absolute discretion
- (c) If no purchase or sale shall be effected, the provisions of clause 65 (e) and (f) shall take effect, so far as they are applicable to the circumstances of this present clause (61A)

Revocation of license

62 If, at any time, after the commencement of this license the local authority make a representation to the Local Government, or the Local Government themselves are of opinion that the undertakers have made any default in executing works or supplying energy in accordance with the terms of this license, and that such default is in consequence of the insolvency of the undertakers, and that by reason of such insolvency the undertakers are unable, fully and effectually, to discharge the duties and obligations imposed upon them by this license, the Local Government shall enquire into the truth of such representation and if, upon such enquiry, they are satisfied of the truth of such representation they shall, upon the application of the local authority, or at their own discretion, revoke this license as to the whole, or, with the consent of the undertakers, as to any part of the area of supply

63 If, at any time, after the commencement of this license, the undertakers represent to the Local Government or the Local Government are of opinion that the undertaking cannot be carried on with profit, and ought to be abandoned, the Local Government shall enquire into the truth of such representation and if, upon such enquiry they are satisfied of the truth of such representation they may, if in their discretion they think fit, revoke this license as to the whole, or (with the consent of the undertakers and of the local authority) as to any part of the area of supply

64 In addition to any other powers which the Local Government may have in that behalf they may revoke this license at any time with the consent and concurrence of the undertakers and the local authority of the area (if any), upon such terms as the Local Government may think just

65 If the Local Government at any time revoke this license as to the whole, or any part of the area of supply, under any of the provisions of this license, the following provisions shall have effect —

- (a) The Local Government shall serve a notice of such revocation upon the undertakers, and upon the local authority of the area (if any) and shall, in such notice fix a date at which such revocation shall take effect, and, from and after such date, all the powers and liabilities of the undertakers under this license for the supply of energy within such area or part thereof, as aforesaid shall absolutely cease and determine
- (b) Within one month after the service of such notice by the Local Government the local authority or the Local Government, if they think fit, may, by notice in writing, require the undertakers to sell and thereupon the undertakers shall sell to them, the undertaking or such part of it as is within such area, or part thereof, as aforesaid upon terms of paying the then value of all land, buildings, works, materials and plant of the undertakers, suitable to, and used by, them for the purposes of the undertaking within such area, or part thereof, such value being agreed or estimated by arbitration, on the basis of the value of the undertaking as a going concern
- (c) Where no purchase is effected by the Local Government or the local authority under the provisions of the last sub-section, and any other local authority, company, or person is willing to purchase the undertaking, or such part of it, as aforesaid, the Local Government, if they think fit may, with the consent of the undertakers or without the consent of the undertakers, in case the price is not less than that for which the Local Government or the local authority might have purchased the same under this section, direct that the undertaking, or such part thereof, as aforesaid shall be so transferred
- (d) Where any purchase is effected or any transfer is directed under the preceding provisions of this section, the undertaking or part thereof, so purchased or transferred, shall vest in the purchasers or transferees thereof, freed from any debts, mortgages, or similar obligations of the undertakers, or attaching to the undertaking and the revocation of this license, as to the whole of the area of supply, or such part thereof, as aforesaid, shall extend only to the revocation of the rights, powers, authorities, duties and obligations of the undertakers from whom the undertaking, or such part thereof, as aforesaid, is purchased or transferred, in relation to the supply of energy within such area, or part thereof, and, save, as aforesaid, this license shall remain in full force within such area, or part thereof, in favour of the Local Government, or local authority, company, or person, by, or to, whom such undertaking, or part thereof, is purchased or transferred, as aforesaid
- (e) Where no purchase has been effected, and no transfer has been directed under the preceding provisions of this section, the Local Government, the local authority, or any body or person, who may be liable to repair any street, or part of a street, in which any works of the undertakers may have been placed, may forthwith remove such works with all reasonable care, and the undertakers shall pay, to the Local Government, the local authority, or other such body or person as aforesaid such reasonable cost of such removal, and of the reinstatement of such street, or part of a street as may be specified in a notice to be served on the undertakers by the Local Government the local authority or other body or person, or, (if so required by the undertakers, within one week after the service of such notice upon them), as may be settled by arbitration

If the undertakers fail to pay such reasonable costs, as aforesaid, within one month after the service upon them of such notice or the delivery of the award of the arbitrator (as the case may be, the Local Government, the local authority or other such body or person, as aforesaid may without any previous notice to the undertakers, (but without prejudice to any other remedy which they may have for the recovery of the amount) sell and dispose of any such works as aforesaid, either by public auction or private sale and for such sum or sums and to such person or persons as they may think fit, and may out of the proceeds of such sale, pay and reimburse themselves the amount of the costs so specified or settled, as aforesaid and of the costs of sale, and the balance (if any) of the proceeds of the sale shall be paid over by them to the undertakers

(f) In case the Local Government, the local authority or any body or person may be entitled to compensation for any damage sustained by them by reason, or in consequence, of the execution of any works within such area or part thereof as aforesaid or the exercise of any powers, by this license granted to the undertakers or for any expenses to which such local authority, body or person may have been put in removing any works of the undertakers within such area or part thereof under the provisions of this license such compensation shall be a first charge on any money that may have been deposited or secured, by the undertakers under the provisions of this license, in respect of such area or part thereof, and which may not have been repaid or released to the undertakers, and such money shall be applied rateably in satisfying such claims, and in every such case the amount of compensation to be paid in respect of the various claims, and the persons to whom it is to be paid, shall be determined by arbitration

General

66 Where any consumer is required under this order to give security to the undertakers, such security may be by way of deposit or otherwise and of such amount as he and the undertakers agree on or as in default of agreement may be determined on the application of either party by a court of competent jurisdiction, which may also order by which of the parties the costs of the proceedings shall be paid and the decision of the said court shall be final and binding on all parties provided that where any such security is given by way of deposit the undertakers shall pay interest at the rate of five rupees per centum per annum on every sum of ten rupees so deposited for every six months during which the sum remains in their hands

67 Where the approval or consent of the Local Government is given in any case, or where the Local Government makes any order or gives any notice under the provisions of this license or revokes this license, such approval or consent shall be signified, or such order shall be made, or notice given, or revocation made by writing, under the hand of one of the Secretaries or Under Secretaries of the Local Government

68 All costs and expenses of or incident to, application for any approval or consent, or order of the Local Government, including the cost of the tests (if any) which may be required to be made by the Local Government for the purpose of determining whether the same should be given or made shall be borne and paid by the applicant or applicants therefor provided, always that where any approval is given by the Local Government to any plan, pattern, or specification, they may require such copies of the same as they may think fit, to be prepared, and deposited at their office, at the expense of the said applicant or applicants, and may from time to time, as they think fit, revoke any approval so given, or permit such approval to be continued, subject to such modifications as they may think necessary

69 Where the Local Government, upon the application of the undertakers give any approval or grant any extension of any time limited for the performance of any duties by the undertakers, or where the Local Government, at their own discretion, or upon the application of the local authority revoke this license as to the whole, or any part of the area of supply notice that such approval has been given or such extension of time granted or such revocation made shall be published, by public advertisement, once, at least in each of two successive weeks in some one and the same local newspaper, by the body by whom such application is made, as aforesaid

70 Where any application is made to the Local Government to extend any time limited for the performance of any duties by the undertakers, notice of such application shall be served on the local authority of the area (if any) by the undertakers, and an opportunity shall be given to such local authority to make representations or objections with reference thereto

Notice of application for extension of time &c to be given to local authority

71 All penalties under this license, the recovery of which is not otherwise specially provided for, may be recovered through a court of competent jurisdiction

Recovery of penalties

72 The undertakers shall be answerable for all accidents, damages and injuries happening through the act or default of the undertakers or of any person in their employment by reason of or in consequence of, any of the undertakers works, and shall save harmless all authorities, bodies and persons by whom any street is repairable, and all other authorities, companies and bodies collectively, and individually and their officers and servants from all damages and costs, in respect of such accidents, damages, and injuries

73 The undertakers shall not be at liberty to sell the undertaking or any part or parts thereof without the sanction of the Local Government who shall be entitled to call for, and shall be furnished with, all information they may desire to have relating to, or connected with any proposed sale or the negotiations therefor provided that nothing in this clause shall affect the provisions of clauses 60 or 74

74 Nothing in this license shall prevent the undertakers borrowing money on the security of mortgages of the undertaking or shall make the consent or approval of the Local Government or local authority necessary to the validity or effect of any such mortgage provided that every mortgage of the undertaking shall be deemed to comprise all purchase money which may be paid to the undertakers in the event of any sale or transfer of the undertaking or of any part thereof, under this license and that any mortgage granted by the undertakers shall not be a charge upon the undertaking or any part thereof, in the event of the undertaking or such part being purchased or transferred, as a whole and that every mortgage deed granted by the undertakers shall be endorsed with notice to that effect

As to mortgages

75 Nothing in this license shall authorise the undertakers to lay or place any electric line or works in the River Hooghly or affect in any manner the powers or privileges of the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta

Saving clause as to River Hooghly

76 Nothing in this license shall exonerate the undertakers from any indictment, action or other proceedings in nuisance in the event of any nuisance being caused by them

Undertakers not exempted from action or other proceedings in nuisance

77 Nothing in this license shall exempt the undertakers, or their undertaking from the provisions of, or deprive the undertakers of the benefits of any general Act relating to electricity, which may be passed by the Bengal or Imperial Legislative Council

Not to General Act

78 All questions which under the terms of this license, are to be submitted to arbitration at any time during the subsistence of the license shall be decided by any one person who may be agreed upon by the parties in difference but if they cannot so agree then by a committee of three persons one to be nominated by the undertakers, a second by the other party to the difference, and the third being an independent person selected by the two nominees. The decision of the majority shall prevail and be final when all three members are appointed. If either party shall neglect, or fail to appoint its member of the committee within 30 days after the happening of the difference or if the two members appointed by the parties hereto shall neglect or fail within the next succeeding 10 days after the expiration of the aforesaid 30 days to appoint the third member, then all questions which would have been raised, or have come before the said committee for decision, shall be decided by such person as the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may nominate and the decision of such person shall in that case, be final, and binding absolutely, on both parties

3 The Committee regret the delay which has occurred in the completion of their work. They met for the first time on the 24th April 1899, and on the 11th of the following month reported to Government that the information laid before them in the form of plans and estimates was insufficient, but that they were ready to submit such a report as they could on the materials supplied, if it were considered better to do so than to await the additional figures called for, and those which they proposed to collect. The decision of Government was in favour of further enquiry. It will be understood that the scheme to be examined was that of a Syndicate formed in London, and that the Committee expected this body to supply such details as would render professional examination possible. The Syndicate declared themselves quite ready to do so, if reasonable expectation were afforded of the adoption of their proposals, but as such encouragement was not given, they did not, in fact, supply the materials wanted. Under the circumstances, the Committee did not think it necessary to spend money on local enquiries as to the value of land to be acquired, &c., which would have supplied but a portion of the data requisite.

4 The Committee are strongly impressed by the representation of the advantages which would attend the connection by railway of the two termini in Calcutta, that at Howrah, on the right of the river, and that at Scaldah on the left bank. Towards these the lines of the west and south of India, and those of East and North Bengal, respectively, converge, and it seems high time that the two systems should be united. Passenger traffic is impeded by the fact that the existing stations are on the outskirts of the town, so that the multitude of clerks and other employes who come daily to Calcutta have to make their way to the business quarter as best they can. Anything done for their convenience would facilitate trade and the work in public offices; it would also bring profit to the railways by increasing traffic in this form. The Syndicate in their report also draw attention to the following considerations in favour of such a measure —

(1) The advent of the East Coast and Bengal Nagpur Railways, and the necessity for connecting them by a direct unbroken line of Railway with Calcutta and the Docks, thereby saving the risk, expense and delay of working all their goods traffic by a wagon ferry, which can be worked by daylight only.

(2) The necessity of completing the proposed East Indian Railway Burdwan Howrah Chord, or the quadrupling of the existing line, or the alternative Bankura Howrah line, whichever may be decided upon by its natural connection with the Jetties and Docks, via the Permanent Bridge and the Junction Railway.

(3) The provision of space at Howrah for the necessary extension of the goods dépôt there.

(4) The connection of the Howrah Mart with the Jetties and Docks by a direct line of rails, necessary to facilitate the export trade, &c., by the prompt supply of produce required to complete cargoes, when direct shipment of goods from up country may fail to arrive in time, obviating demurrage, and the delay and expense of boating produce from Howrah to the Docks.

(5) The separation of passenger from goods traffic, a necessity long since recognised in all cities of commercial importance, thereby obviating confusion in the main thoroughfares and the inconvenience of passengers having to cross all carted goods at Howrah.

Projects for the purpose have been frequently put forward. A scheme similar to that of the Syndicate's was approved by a representative Committee and by a Committee of Engineers in 1882.

5 For the purpose of connecting the two termini, three plans have been suggested, each possessing distinct advantages. The first is that of the Syndicate, which, as has been stated, is practically the same as that approved by the General Committee in 1882. It is for a line through the heart of the city, any nearly direct, with a bridge near to that now in use, and a Central Railway Station designed to receive the bulk of the passengers to Calcutta, from whatever point they come. The Committee at its first meeting resolved that, financial considerations apart, this plan is the best. They have approved the site of the bridge and that of the railway station, also the general direction of the railway, as given in the revised scheme of the Syndicate. No exception has been taken to any part of the proposed work.

6 But the expense of this project will be very heavy, much greater than the Syndicate contemplated when they first proposed to carry it out. The original estimate was for Rs 1,50,00,000, the second for Rs 3,46,00,000, the third for Rs 4,12,50,000, while the professional member of the Committee who has examined the subject advises that the cost will not be less than Rs 7,22,00,000. The Syndicate at first asked for aid in the form of a toll of 1½ pies per maund on all goods traffic, excepting minerals, received at, or despatched from, all Calcutta stations of the connected railways, including the Kidderpore Docks. This toll was to be taken from the goods indicated whether they used the new railway or not. The proposal, which at first sight appears strange, has been justified by reference to the fact that a toll of two pies a maund was imposed by Government under Bengal Act IX of 1871 for the building of the existing bridge at Howrah, that no increase was made in the railway rates when it was put on, and no reduction when it was taken off, so that it was paid by these companies without any burden upon trade. The precedent has also been quoted of the Kidderpore Docks toll. At a subsequent stage, as the estimates rose in amount, the Syndicate reported that they would also require a Government guarantee of 2½ per cent income on the outlay.

7 The Committee are distinctly opposed to levying a toll for the construction of the railway bridge and central station on goods which are not conveyed over any of these works. To do so appears to be unreasonable. The precedent of 1871 is, indeed, in favour of such a course but it is to be remembered that the toll then imposed was objected to by the Chamber of Commerce, the Port Commissioners and the Select Committee of the Legislative Council. Moreover, it never took effect in the sense to which the objection of the Committee applies, that is by being really imposed on the goods, for the railways paid it.

8 If the proposed toll be abandoned the funds for the work would be most naturally supplied by the railways. This is, indeed, the intention of the Syndicate. It seems to the Committee perfectly fair to require that the Companies, which undertake to convey goods and passengers to Calcutta, shall do so in a manner suitable to the requirements of traffic, and they believe that there is nothing in the financial position of the railways which suggests that they should be exempted from the operation of this rule. And if the railways are to pay, it follows that they should have in their hands the control of the works. The claim of the Syndicate to preference on the ground that the scheme is of their devising is met by the fact that the project is nearly as old as the Calcutta Railway, it was examined by a Committee in 1865, and, as has been stated, by two Committees in 1882.

9 Unfortunately the representatives of the railways have a decided objection to undertaking the work. In view of this fact, it was proposed that if they declined to do so, the toll, which forms the financial basis of the scheme when given into the hands of any other agency, should be approved, with the proviso that the payments should be made out of the general revenue of the railways, and not by any special impost on the goods. On this motion the division was as follows —

| For                             | Against                                  |
|--|---|
| Mr Gemmell, Bengal Chamber of Commerce | Mr Lightfoot, Eastern Bengal State Railway      |
| „ Apoor, Port Commissioner             | Wynne, Bengal Nagpur Railway                    |
| „ McKewan, Bengal Chamber of Commerce  | Babu Joy Gobind Law, British Indian Association |
| „ Elworthy, Trades Association         | „ K N Mitter, Corporation of Calcutta           |
| „ Nolan, President                     | Mr J Ghosal, National Chamber of Commerce       |
|  | „ Finnamore, Secretary                          |

10 In the face of the reluctance of the railway authorities either to carry out the project or supply the Syndicate with the means of doing so, the Committee see little chance of the scheme in its entirety being sanctioned for immediate execution. Under the circumstances, it seems desirable to fall back on the second of the plans under consideration, that of constructing the bridge and connecting railways in the manner indicated by the Syndicate, but with platform stations only. This would obviate a great part of the proposed expenditure, the part saved being that as to the estimate of which there is the greatest uncertainty, namely, the acquisition of land in the heart of the town. It would always be possible to add to the project the building of a central station, should this be found necessary. Meanwhile the greater part of the advantages contemplated would be obtained at a cost on the payment of which by the railways Government might properly insist.

11 Messrs Gemmell, Apcar, McKewan and Elworthy thought that a line such as that described might most conveniently be constructed in connection with the proposed new railway from Bankura to Howrah. It is well known that something has to be done to relieve the congestion on the lower sections of the East Indian Railway, but whether this should be effected by opening out the alternative route indicated, or by increasing the permanent way of the existing line, some of the Committee are unable to say. In any case, they consider that a scheme for facilitating communications between Howrah and Sealdah has merits of its own, quite independent of those which may attend a project to be carried out elsewhere.

12 If the financial objection should prove fatal even to this reduced form of the original scheme, there remains that of a bridge at Cossipore, and a railway by this suburban route, connecting Howrah and Sealdah. As pointed out by Mr Wynne, a bridge at Cossipore would be much cheaper than one at Armenian Ghat, as it need not be so raised as to be adapted to the passage of ships, and the river is narrower. The land would cost very much less. It would, moreover, be more acceptable to the section of the public which dreads the disturbance of householders in their possessions, and the smoke and noise incidental to a central line. The Committee were so far unanimous on the subject that out of nine members present, six were in favour of the route, if the other could not be used, while the remaining three found that if there is to be a bridge anywhere in Calcutta, it should be at Cossipore.

13 The Government of Bengal have put a number of specific questions to the Committee. These are replied to in Appendix I attached to the report.

14 The observations or dissents which have been submitted by Mr Wynne, Mr Douglas, Mr Ghosal and Babu Joy Gobind Law are printed in Appendix II.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

B K FINNIMORE,

Secretary, Calcutta Central Station Committee

APPENDIX I

Replies to the questions put by the Government of Bengal in a Resolution, dated the 12th April 1899, and a letter No 155T—R, dated the 18th June 1900

QUESTIONS

ANSWERS

1 Is it desirable to build a second bridge over the Hooghly?

Yes.

2 If so, at what site?

That assigned by the Syndicate is the most convenient, Cossipore is the cheapest. The matter is explained in the Committee's report.

3 Whether a Central Passenger Station or marginal stations would be most convenient?

A Central Passenger Station would be the most convenient.

4 Whether the site and area selected by the Syndicate are the best for a Central Station?

Yes, the amended selection.

5 Whether the sum of Rs 1,96,50,000 is considered sufficient to cover the cost of the scheme proposed by the Syndicate?

No. The Syndicate admit that they have increased the estimate for the works originally proposed to be executed to Rs 2,32,96,000, and for what is now thought desirable their estimate is Rs 4,12,50,000. The only expert on the Committee who has recorded an opinion gives reasons for considering all the estimates too low, and he calculates that the cost of the works originally estimated will be Rs. 2,74,25,000, that of the whole project Rs. 7,22,00,000.

No

6 Whether the proposal to execute the scheme through an independent Company should be accepted?

7 Whether the levying of a toll as proposed by the Syndicate, that is, a toll including goods which do not pass over the new route, is suitable?

No

8 Whether the means by which it is proposed to construct the new street are to be recommended?

No

9 Generally, whether the project is one which is likely to be beneficial?

No, not the Syndicate's project, as it includes arrangements to which the Committee object.

10 Could a bridge with its Central Station, Central Railway, including approaches and junctions, be constructed for 275 lakhs?

Mr Wynne considers the estimate under the mark, but the details supplied are not sufficient to enable the Committee to check the figures fully. Mr Wynne's observations are appended to this report.

11 Could a roadway or avenue for the purpose of the railway be made for 150 lakhs?

Probably not. The Syndicate in their note of the 20th September 1900 observed that the Municipal Act provides that the value of property subdivided in an insanitary manner shall be taken not on the rack rent, but on the assessment. This is not quite correct, ordinary values are, under the Act, based on the assessment, the special provision for land used for a purpose unlawful, or contrary to public policy, is that the value shall be estimated as if the land were used for ordinary purposes. And the Act is relevant only when the land is acquired by the Municipality.

Yes, the income is estimated by the Committee at 11 lakhs.

Uncertain.

12 Would a toll on goods at 1½ pies per maund yield 6½ lakhs?

13 Would a toll on coal using the bridge and on parcels bring in 1½ lakhs?

14 Would the proposed toll on passengers yield 4½ lakhs?

No toll has been proposed on passengers, but it has been assumed that they will pay fares at double the ordinary rate. The Committee do not object to the estimate, the data for it are unknown.

15 Is the estimate of 8½ lakhs for rentals of sorts supported by reasonable estimates?

No, it is conjectural. Moreover, the proposed buildings are contrary to provisions of Rule 2, Schedule XVII of Calcutta Municipal Act of 1899. Olive Street at the points where the proposed buildings are to be erected is not more than 30 to 40 feet wide.

ANSWERS

Under Rule 2, Schedule XVII, dwelling houses, which these blocks are intended to be, should not be more than 30 to 40 feet high. They are proposed to be five to six storeys high. Block A to be five storeys, each 14 feet 6 inches high or 72 feet 6 inches in height, and the others to be six storeys, each 12 feet or 72 feet high. Under Rule 40 of Schedule XVII each dwelling room must be 10 feet from floor to the under side of beams. It is obvious, therefore, that the blocks cannot be more than three storeys high.

This will reduce the estimated receipts by one half.

2 The new streets shown in the plan are about 25 feet wide. Under section 356 the width should not be less than 40 feet.

3 Under Schedule XVII, Rule 6 4 feet must be left between the building and the street alignment. This has not been done in the proposed blocks.

4 It is doubtful how far the proposed bridges contravene the spirit, if not the letter, of section 340 of the Act.

The Committee are not aware of a proposal to tax passengers.

The Committee note the strong approval of Mr. Apjohn, and have nothing to say against the design.

Yes

16 Is the tax on passengers legitimate?

17 Are the Committee satisfied with the new design of the bridge?

18 Whether the Central Railway scheme is really wanted at present or in the near future?

19 Whether the scheme of tolls proposed is a legitimate means of financing it?

20 Whether the Syndicate's figures are sufficiently approximate to make the scheme a practical one?

21 Whether on the basis of these figures the three railways are willing to contribute to the entire scheme?

22 Whether the Committee recommend a Government guarantee?

No

No

No

The work should be carried out by the three railways concerned on the terms usual in the case of extensions. Owing to the close connection of the railways with the State, this implies financial responsibility to Government, but not what is generally called a guarantee.

1 Mr Wynne's Note

THE proposals of the Syndicate as originally put forward consisted of two separate schemes—

(a) A Railway connecting Howrah with Sealdah with a junction line to the Port Commissioner's Railway including a bridge over the Hooghly at Howrah

(b) An Avenue, called Woodburn Avenue, through which the Railway was to run

The financial arrangements to carry out (a) were based on all the three Railways concerned agreeing to pay a special toll on all goods they carried to and from Calcutta

To carry out (b) the Government of India were asked to sell the land required for the Avenue to a Company for sixty lakhs of rupees. If the cost of the land and compensation exceeded this amount, the Corporation were to pay the difference

The Syndicate's second proposals were practically the same as the first with the design of the bridge across the Hooghly altered

The Syndicate's third proposals now under consideration are also practically the same as regards works to be carried out. Where the difference comes in is that the method under which the scheme is to be financed is altered, and Woodburn Avenue is made a part of the Central Railway Scheme, instead of being a proposal to be carried out by a separate Company, with certain liabilities to be borne by the Corporation

|  |             |
|--|-------------|
|  | Rs          |
| The cost of the original scheme was estimated at           | 1,50,00,000 |
| The cost of the scheme under consideration is estimated at | 4,12,50,000 |

The difference in the method put forward for raising the money for the first, second and third proposals is as follows —

The Revenue required to meet the interest on the cost of the first and second proposals was to be derived from a special toll on all goods carried to and from Calcutta and Howrah by the East Indian Railway, Eastern Bengal State Railway and Bengal Nagpur Railway

In the third proposal now being considered this special toll is still to be levied, but as this will not be nearly sufficient to produce the Revenue necessary to show the scheme is a sound one the Government of India are asked to give some form of guarantee, as the calculations on which two thirds of the Revenue are estimated were such as "would render it difficult to place the undertaking on the English market without some form of guarantee"

The gross Revenue to be earned by an expenditure of Rs 1,12,50,000 of capital is estimated at Rs 19,55,855. Of this sum, only Rs 6,30,855 is a fairly certain asset, and represents the special toll on the Railways

The balance of Revenue (Rs 12,25,000) is conjectural and, as pointed out in the Syndicate's letter of the 29th August 1899, "is not susceptible of verified calculations"

As the three Railways declined to accept the original proposal based as it was on their paying a special toll on all goods, whether they crossed the bridge or not, it is clear the estimated Revenue of Rs 6,30,855 from the toll cannot be relied on

Practically, therefore, the scheme, if it is carried out, must be made by capital, all raised under guarantee. The Syndicate admit this for two thirds of the capital (see paragraph 14). The balance with the Railways declining to commit themselves to pay the special toll must obviously be provided for in the same way. Under paragraph 9 they appear to ask for a guarantee for the whole capital

As regards the three Railways concerned, therefore the situation has altered

If the scheme is to be carried out by capital raised under the guarantee of the Government of India and the Railways are freed from any liability of having to pay a special toll on all their goods in and out of Calcutta, and any liability to have to meet the guaranteed interest charges, they can have no objection to the construction of a Central Railway and bridge across the Hooghly at Howrah

It is obviously of advantage from the Railway's point of view to have a second Railway bridge across the Hooghly if they had not got to pay for it while at the same time securing its use for any one of their traffic that may want to use it

Whether such an expenditure of capital would be justified is for the Government of India to say, as they would be liable to have to meet the interest charges on all the capital expended

The offer of the Syndicate, in paragraph 9 of their letter of the 29th August 1899, to undertake the work at a cost of 2½ million sterling is of no value

Should the works cost more than 2½ millions, Government would have no option but to agree to guarantee the extra capital required to finish the works

If they declined to assist in raising more capital, they would be in the position of having to pay interest on all the capital that had been spent, and the incomplete works would repay nothing in return

To make such an undertaking of any value, the Syndicate would have to deposit as security a sufficiently large sum of money to cover any possible excess over the estimate, and this sum would have to be deposited outside the capital raised under the Government of India's guarantee, a piece of financing it is hardly likely the Syndicate would face.

If the scheme is to be carried out by a guarantee, it alters its character at once, and becomes one of the many Railway schemes that the Government of India is being constantly pressed to carry out with its own resources. It may be called private enterprise, but it is not so.

The effect of the guarantee is to bring it within the Railway programme which governs the amount of money either actually provided or raised by guarantee that may be annually spent by the Government of India on Railway projects.

The only point on which this Committee can advise, therefore, if a guarantee is to be given is the position of the scheme in relation to the various other demands of the trade of Bengal on the Government of India for increased Railway facilities.

There are many projects connected with Bengal that are of urgent importance. I may mention a few—

- (a) Better communication between the coal fields and place of export
- (b) Increase of rolling stock to Railways
- (c) Extensions of the Eastern Bengal State Railway
- (d) Alternative route to the North West Provinces
- (e) Opening out of Chota Nagpur

The Government of India have claims from all parts for a share of its capital or credit for expending on Railways in India.

The point for this Committee to decide, therefore, is whether they would place this scheme in the front rank of all Railway schemes in which Calcutta and the Trade of Bengal is interested and if they would recommend it as a project to be undertaken by Government before any of the other projects in which Bengal is interested are put in hand.

To my mind the Central Railway project belongs to a class of scheme that, every one will admit, would be very useful if carried out, but which financial consideration would not justify.

Every one would admit that it would be an excellent thing to clear all the bustees out of Calcutta, and build model buildings for the people. It would be difficult to raise money for this purpose, however useful the project may be.

A system of overhead lines running to and connecting all parts of Calcutta would be a great convenience. Its cost would be prohibitive.

The Central Railway Scheme is in the same category. It has also the strong argument against it that a connection already exists between the Howrah and Calcutta sides of the river at Hooghly, and so will not provide a facility that does not at present exist. Trade has at present access to the Calcutta side by the Jubilee Bridge at Hooghly, and is not hampered for want of Railway communication between one side of the Hooghly or the other.

Great stress is laid in paragraphs 16 and 17 of the Syndicate's letter of the 23rd August on the vital importance of the project in maintaining the present use of the Howrah station as the produce mart of Calcutta. It is claimed the Central Railway will save the cost, damage and delay of the present system of unloading all goods at Howrah reloading into boats, and boating them down the river to the Docks.

To meet this difficulty the Port Commissioners have spent a very large sum of money in providing grain sheds at the Docks where grain can be bought, sold, sampled, rebagged and tallied whether its ultimate destination is for export or local consumption.

If the grain is not sold at the Docks, it can be sent to the owner's godowns by the Port Commissioners' railway or boated by the boat canal as may be desired.

We therefore have, as the chief argument for the Central Railway Scheme, the necessity for keeping up the present system of business at Howrah when large sums of money are now being spent practically by Government to do away with Howrah and the present system of business there as much as possible.

With regard to the suggestion made in the Histories of Railway Projects compiled for the Viceroyal Conference papers of 1899, on which I understand the Committee are asked to express their views.

The suggestion made is that the construction of the Central Station and the proposed Avenue should be deferred, and only the permanent bridge be constructed at present, the three Railways interested, viz., the East Indian, Eastern Bengal and Bengal Nagpur taking up the projects as a joint work. It must obviously be also intended to include the connection between the bridge and Sealdah. To make the bridge only would be of no use.

It is further suggested, "if this were done, the money would probably be readily forthcoming, and an immediate profit would be secured if the bridge were made part of a project for a line from Howrah to Bankura. The line would be about 95 miles long, and run on the left bank of the Roopnarain river, and with an estimated cost of one crore for the line and 2½ crores for the bridge and its approaches, the scheme would cost approximately 3½ crores, the interest on which at 3 per cent. would be ten and a half lakhs of rupees. Assuming the new line to earn Rs 200 per mile per week net, Rs 99 lakhs would be available towards the 10½ lakhs, and the balance might be made up by a toll on foot passengers and other traffic crossing the bridge on the road."

The value of this suggestion as a commercial transaction depends on whether the estimated cost of the project is a reasonable one or not. On referring to the suggestion, it will be noticed that the Bankura-Howrah line is to be constructed to avoid the necessity of the Burdwan Howrah chord or quadrupling the line between Sitarampore and Howrah.

The Bankura-Howrah line must therefore, be a double line. Its length is put at 95 miles. It cost at one crore of rupees, or Rs 1,05,273 a mile. This is the cost of a single line only.

Again, in calculating the earnings of the project, it is proposed to make up the deficiency of interest by placing a toll on the new bridge. Part of the scheme, therefore is to close the present free road bridge at Howrah, and substitute one on which tolls are to be paid by all passengers and traffic using it.

I will now endeavour to make an estimate of —

- (a) The cost of the Bankura Howrah line constructed as a double line
- (b) The cost of bridge and connection with Sealdah

In 1890 Mr Horace Bell made a reconnaissance and report on the line from Purulia to Howrah via Bankura. His estimate was for a single line and he put the cost of the project at Rs 1,95,00,000 for 147 miles, or Rs 1,32,000 a mile. Between Bankura and Howrah the Damooda river has to be crossed. In the area the line would have to run across the Damooda river spills all over the country side, the width, according to Mr Bell, varying from 3 to 7½ miles with water from 3 to 14 feet deep. Out of the total estimate of Rs 1,95,00,000 he calculates Rs 47,32,000 would be spent on crossing the Damooda and its spill flood in a distance of about 6½ miles.

Further Mr Bell makes the following remarks —

It will thus be seen that the crossing of this river is very far from being, as represented by the promoters of an extension of the Parkesser line, an obstacle that can be easily and cheaply provided for, and it may even be doubted whether with this heavy expenditure this line could be held to be absolutely free from the risk of breach or serious damage in a heavy flood.

In addition to the Damooda river, the Hoopnaram has also to be crossed before Howrah is reached.

Mr Bell estimated the cost of a single line from Purulia to Howrah at Rs 1,32,368 a mile the section from Purulia to Bankura presenting no particular difficulties. For a double line this would be Rs 2,64,000 a mile approximately.

In the light of Mr Bell's remarks and figures I have quoted as to the cost of bridging the Damooda I would put not the cost of a double line from Bankura to Howrah at not less three three lakhs of rupees per mile, or for 95 miles a sum total of Rs 2,85,00,000.

Next as to (b), the cost of the proposed bridge and connection with Sealdah.

When dealing with the cost of the Syndicate's proposals at the previous meetings of the Committee I estimated the cost of the project, excluding the cost of building Woodburn Avenue, at 621 lakhs of rupees.

The portions of the original project it is proposed should be excluded from the scheme proposed in the Histories of Railways are—

- (1) The connection between the Central Railway and the Port Commissioners' line
- (2) The Central Station

I estimate the following deductions on this account —

|   | Rs          |
|---|-------------|
| Viaduct to Port Commissioners Railway               | 4,00,000    |
| Land for " "  | 25,00,000   |
| Junction arrangements with Port Commissioners' line | 20,00,000   |
| Land for Central Station                            | 1,00,00,000 |
| Central Station                                     | 50,00,000   |
| Total   | 1,99,00,000 |

Whether anything should be deducted for interest paid out of capital during construction and establishment and Home charges depends on the exact way in which the money is raised.

The suggestion made in the Histories of Railways is that the money required could be readily raised by the Railways who were to carry out the scheme.

No money could be raised for the scheme without a Government guarantee as the financial arrangements of the Railway Companies now stand. Raised under these terms, the Government of India would have to bear the cost of the interest payable during construction and the fairest way would, no doubt be to place this as a debit against capital.

No deduction can be made therefore on that account.

With regard to establishment and Home charges, there would be some debits for this, and the cost of survey will all have to be paid for.

The figure 30 lakhs I previously estimated for may be reduced, perhaps to 20 lakhs.

Against this deduction, however, must be noted that, in my original estimate I only allowed Rs 25,00,000 as the cost of the Railway share of the land for Woodburn Avenue. As the cost of the land for that project was to be provided for by a separate Company, my estimate of Rs 25,00,000 being merely an allowance for the right of the Railway to use the Avenue.

Though the scheme under consideration does not contemplate the construction of an Avenue like the Harrison Road with the Railway running down the centre of it yet it requires that a cut should be made right through the site of Woodburn Avenue in order to carry the line to Sealdah

The exact area of land required cannot be taken up, as properties are so irregular and it will be necessary to take up a considerably larger area than is actually needed

I would put the cost of the land for this cut at Rs 40,00 000, viz, Rs 15,00 000 more than I originally allowed

Although it is not proposed to have a large Central station, it is clear some station must be provided

I would put the cost of this at, say ten lakhs of rupees with its land, &c

The total cost of the Bridge and connection with Sealdah, including a small intermediate passenger station, I estimate at—

|---|-------------|--------------------|
| Original estimate of scheme   |             | 6,12 00 000        |
| Deduct for works not to be carried out                                  | 1 99,00,000 |                    |
| Less cost of Home charges and establishment, &c                         | 10,00,000   |                    |
|   |             | 2,09,00 000 |
|   |             | 4 03,00,000        |
| Added additional cost of land for Railway alongside of Woodburn Avenue  |             | 15,00 000          |
| Passenger Station   |             | 10,00,000   |
| Total cost of the scheme as per suggestion in the Histories of Railways |             | 4,28,00,000 |

I adhere to the figures of my original estimate as a basis, because it appears to me that no new plans have been prepared for this third proposal and because I find that the Syndicate have increased their latest estimate for precisely the same works as before from Rs 1,96 00 000 to Rs 2,74,25,000 excluding the new thoroughfare

The value of estimates which jump from Rs 1 86 50 000 to Rs 2 74 25 000 simply because the figures were subjected to general criticism shows on what very insecure foundation they were based and how likely they are to be enormously exceeded when the scheme had actually to be carried out

Following now the calculations of the probable financial results of the 'suggestion' on the figures I have deduced we get these results —

|   | Rs                 |
|---|--------------------|
| Cost of the Bankura Howrah double line            | 2,85,00,000        |
| Cost of Howrah Bridge and connection with Sealdah | 4,38,00 000 |
| Total cost of the 'suggestion'                    | 7,13 00,000 |

Interest at 3 per cent on Rs 7,13,00 000 is Rs 21 39 000

To earn this 21 lakhs the cost of working has to be added

The up keep of the bridge and viaducts will be a heavy item

I would put the working expenses at close on 50 per cent of the gross receipts

On this basis 40 lakhs would have to be earned yearly to secure a net result of Rs 21 39 000, so that a 3 per cent dividend might be paid

This would require gross receipts of Rs 800 a mile a week

The East Indian Railway at the present moment during the busiest time they have ever had are earning Rs 800 a mile a week

It is not clear where the traffic is coming from that would enable the "suggestion" scheme to earn the same results

The scheme will rely for its traffic on the diversion of existing traffic from the East Indian Railway and any additional traffic of the future. The diversion of traffic from East Indian Railway must reduce the earnings of that railway and the amount of new traffic required to earn 3 per cent on an expenditure of 7 crores will be very large indeed

Admitting that relief is required to the present East Indian Railway traffic, the chief item of traffic that requires to be dealt with is coal

As at present arranged all export coal seeks the Docks. Whether any new depot for loading export coal at some other site than the Docks will be eventually created is, at the present moment, uncertain. Until this is settled, it would seem wise to hesitate committing the State to a scheme that may not be suitable

Looking at it from the point of view of the coal traffic, the expenditure of 422 lakhs to get coal from Howrah to the Docks does not seem justified, as coal has at present a straight run to the Docks via the Jubilee Bridge.

In conclusion, for the reasons I have given, I propose the following resolution —

1 That the Committee are of the opinion that the Syndicate's proposals will cost a larger sum than they estimate

2 That however useful the scheme might be, they do not think it would return a reasonable dividend on its cost

3 That it is doubtful the three Railways would join in undertaking to carry out the scheme suggested in the "History of Railways," as the probable financial return would not justify their doing so

4 That there are many schemes it would be more in the interests of the trade of Bengal to have carried out in preference to the construction of the Central Railway Project as at present put forward

2—Mr Douglas Note

I desire to add the following remarks to the report of the Committee—

As a joint passenger station at Howrah for the East Indian and Bengal Nagpur Railways has already been sanctioned and is in course of construction a second such station as the proposed central station would practically be as I consider unnecessary and the outlay such a station would entail would be altogether unjustifiable. It is by no means certain that a central station would be any more convenient for the general requirements of the passenger traffic to be served than the station at Howrah.

As to paragraphs 4 and 5 of the report I would point out that the cost of a bridge and a railway to connect the Howrah and Sealdah termini would be exceedingly large, and I fail altogether to see what advantages the connection would secure that would be in any way at all commensurate with the cost of the scheme. It seems clear the proposal would merely be a first instalment of the complete central railway and station project.

In my opinion no reliance can be placed on any of the figures of cost given in paragraph 6 of the report. To ascertain any figures which could be used with any confidence in such a case would need careful and exhaustive inquiry by independent experts, and this the Committee as constituted was, I consider, altogether unable to make.

3—Mr Ghosals Note

CALCUTTA CENTRAL RAILWAY SCHEME

In this connexion we have to consider three main proposals which are as follows —

- I The erection of a second Railway bridge over the Hooghly at Howrah
- II The construction of a Railway line connecting the bridge with the railways on both sides of the river, and running through the centre of the city
- III The building of a Central Passenger Station within the heart of Calcutta

I Let me first take up the question of the desirability of a second permanent railway bridge over the Hooghly. Why should it be constructed? What is its utility or necessity? The reason is not far to seek. Such a bridge will facilitate the communication between the coal fields and the docks, by providing another direct unbroken line of railway. For the wagon ferry at Shalimar to be worked by the B-N Railway, cannot be said to be a very desirable arrangement, as it involves a great deal of risk, expense, and delay. Thus in the case of B-N R trains, it would obviate the necessity of travelling an extra 48 miles via Hooghly and Naihati to the docks. It would also prevent interruption to passenger traffic, should the existing Floating Bridge at Howrah fail. Moreover, should any accident happen to the Jubilee bridge at Hooghly—and the possibility of such an accident is already apprehended by certain persons—the traffic across the river would not altogether be stopped if there is an alternative railway bridge. It may be mentioned here that about ten years ago Major Smith placed before the public a series of calculations showing the grounds on which he considered the present Jubilee bridge at Hooghly not safe. Mr Molesworth the then Consulting Engineer to the Government of India was, in consequence, appointed to report upon the matter, and though he supported Mr (now Sir) Bradford Leslie so far as to say that a certain amount of elasticity was necessary for the safety of the bridge itself, he at the same time directed that the speed of trains while passing over the bridge should be regulated by running them slowly. From this it was evident that Mr Molesworth too considered that there was some cause of apprehension. Since the construction of the Bridge a heavy shoal or foreshore has formed on the left bank of the river, thus contracting the waterway and consequent scouring of the bed. To guard against this evil heaps of ballast are being pitched into the bed from time to time and apprehension of central piers being undermined is still entertained by some professional men.

Note by Mr J. H. Appjohn on Munter's proposal last paragraph

But if the construction of such a bridge be decided upon the next question is Where should it be erected? What is the most convenient and desirable site? I cannot decide in favour of Howrah for a bridge, especially a permanent railway bridge at that place would not be so safe being more liable to cyclonic and tidal disturbances as one higher up the river. In this connexion we may consider the dangers apprehended by Captain E. W. Peiley, Deputy Conservator of the Port of Calcutta, who says—my 'long experience with the river and its bed leads me to say that in the interest of the port I will press upon the Commissioners to resist all they can such a dangerous experiment to the port. If a bridge is to be built let it be taken some distance higher up, certainly above the northern limits of the port.' The bridge would have to be on a very high level and consequently the lines connecting it with the Railways on both sides of the river would have to be constructed on an equally high level and this would be not only highly expensive but a source of great inconvenience to passengers, as the height of the platforms of the proposed central station from the street would be unusually great.

For these reasons, as well as for other reasons to be mentioned below, Chitpore appears to supply the most suitable site for the bridge. The cost of a bridge below Chitpore would be much less than that of one below Howrah, as the latter will require much bigger spans than the former. Also the bridge, if erected at Chitpore, could be most easily connected with the Eastern Bengal State Railway which extends right up to the bank of the river at that place while a short line running from Sulkea to Howrah, and constructed at a comparatively cheaper cost, would connect it with E. I. and B. N. Railways. When Sir Bradford Leslie launched the project of the Jubilee bridge Mr. Duff Bruce who was then Engineer to the Calcutta Port Trust published a pamphlet showing that for such a bridge Chitpore was a much better site than Hooghly or any other place. But the advantages of having the bridge at Chitpore will be more obvious when we proceed to consider—

II. The second proposal viz., the construction of a central line running through the heart of the town, and connecting the bridge with the railways on both sides of the river. Now,

Paragraph 13 of the letter from the Secretary to the British Indian Association to the Secretary to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce dated the 4th October 1892. In paragraph 6 of the letter from Mr. Turnbull Secretary to the Corporation of Calcutta to the Secretary to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce dated the 12th December 1888.

apart from the enormous outlay which it will involve is such a central line desirable from a sanitary point of view? On the contrary the smoke and noise due to the constant passing and repassing of trains over the line would be a source of great nuisance to people—an objection which becomes very serious when we bear in mind that the neighbourhood thus affected comprises the most populous quarters of the town. And this invalidates to a certain extent the argument that it would improve the sanitation of the town by opening up the congested area of Burrabazar. And if the line is to run along the Harrison Road for some distance from the proposed bridge at Howrah how will its passage upon up the congested portions of Burrabazar? Also the existence of a bar running from east to west as the overhead line would seriously affect the ventilation of the town where the wind blows from north to south or from south to north. The scheme proposes the practical acquisition of a highly important road constructed within recent years by the municipality. The greatest opposition may confidently be expected to this part of the scheme. It has not the advantage of opening out a part of Calcutta and so improving sanitation. Its action would be to obstruct a highly important thoroughfare. It is very likely also that complicated legal questions would arise, as the owners of houses on land along the road would have their property very much depreciated in value. And what is the necessity of such a central line when we have a complete network of tram lines to link up the centre of the town with its remotest corners, and which serve every purpose of passenger traffic within the town? And this purpose again will be still furthered with the introduction of the proposed electric tram lines. Also this line would necessitate the construction of the permanent bridge at Howrah, which, as we have seen, is very far from desirable.

If we can place any reliance on the opinions of such experts as the Deputy Conservator to the Port Commissioners, then the present Floating Bridge at Howrah is almost as good as new and will, with such repairs as have hitherto been made by changing a pontoon one year and another the next year, and also renewing its other parts occasionally, continue to render the same service for years to come as it has done in the past. For this reason as well as for the purpose of providing facilities for passenger and wheeled traffic, I would let it stand as it is and where it is. Thus we see that there is no real necessity or desirability of having a line running right through the heart of Calcutta. But if it is found desirable to give additional facilities to passenger traffic, then the proposed line may be made to run round about Calcutta along the bank of the Circular Canal or by the Circular Road with small passenger and goods stations at short distances and in suitable localities. This would not only materially diminish the amount of outlay, but in conjunction with the electric trams would confer a great boon on the suburban and town population. Indian merchants, having big godowns on the banks of the canal would also be highly benefited by this line, in the same way as the merchants having similar godowns and warehouses on the Calcutta side of the Hooghly are benefited by the Port Trust Railway. The Port Trust

Railway by the Strand and the Municipal Railway along the Circular Road could also be utilized with necessary additions and alterations for passenger traffic

III Also the question of this central line hinges upon the other question—Whether the construction of a Central Station within the heart of the town has been felt to be a necessity The site selected for such a station being less than  $\frac{1}{2}$  mile from Sealdah will not benefit people in general, especially those that live in the northern or southern suburbs of the town. People not ordinarily accustomed to walking would easily avail themselves of tram cars

I enclose 8 of the letter from the Secretary to the British Indian Association dated the 4th December 1882. Also paragraphs 2 and 3 of a letter by Mr. P. N. M. Manager, Eastern Bengal State Railway dated the 5th May 1888. Also memorandum by Mr. Wynne on the subject of the proposal.

while the poorer class to whom time and distance are immaterial, would much prefer walking up to Howrah or to Sealdah or even to Dum Dum, as they often do to spending a few more pice to avoid an extra walk. By the proposed scheme, they will be forced to walk longer distance pay more and be exposed to extra risk to their life and limb.

Nor would it benefit that class of people called 'daily passengers' who especially such of them as serve in mercantile offices, would find it more convenient to alight at Howrah for instance than at the proposed station at Chhatra Ghat.

I do not deny that the scheme of the Central Station has some advantages. But these advantages are not sufficiently important to justify the heavy outlay it would necessitate. Is it not possible to remove or lessen the financial difficulties while securing all these advantages? For a Central Station or a common terminus for all the Railways connected with Calcutta is very desirable, otherwise the second Railway bridge over the Hooghly would be of little use at least for the present. And if this bridge be connected with the Eastern Bengal State Railway at Chitpore then, Sealdah, for more reasons than one, would Paragraph 4 of the letter dated the 4th October 1882. From the Secretary to the British Indian Association dated the 4th October 1882. Also paragraphs 2 and 3 of the letter by Mr. P. N. M. Manager, Eastern Bengal State Railway dated the 5th May 1888. Also memorandum by Mr. Wynne on the subject of the proposal dated the 17th December 1888.

appear to be the most convenient site for this proposed Central Station. Because there is a large railway station already existing at the place, excepting the Bengal Nagpur Railway, all the other railways are already connected with it and land being cheap in the locality the necessary additional buildings, platforms, workshops &c, could be erected there at a much cheaper cost. Maharajah Sir Jotendro Mohan Tagore, Bahadur, as a member of the Calcutta Central Railway Committee, in his note of dissent in 1882 wrote the following prophetic words—"The limits of the town may go on extending, and Sealdah itself may in time be included within the precincts of the town. In that case the station will be located within the city which is considered by the majority to be so very desirable." It may be noted here that Sealdah has already become a part of the Calcutta Municipal town. The distance between the Sealdah station and the proposed site for the Central Station being very short—about half a mile—it would make very little or no difference if Sealdah is made the Central Station.

If Sealdah be fixed upon as the common terminal station for all the railways, then the whole scheme becomes very cheap and feasible.

In conclusion I may remark—

- (1) that the scheme here suggested is not an essentially new one, but only a modified form of the original scheme as proposed by the Syndicate
- (2) and that while securing all the principal advantages of the original proposal it is, to a large extent free from the financial difficulties and sanitary objections with which the former is necessarily attended

(1) As to the proposed tax of  $1\frac{1}{2}$  pie per maund on all goods traffic except mineral products that are received at or despatched from all Calcutta stations of the connected railways including the Kidderpore Docks, it may be said that the levying of such a toll is hardly fair. It is certainly not fair for instance to the Eastern Bengal State Railway which has no great interests in traffic on the Howrah side of the river. For up country consignments it has a route via the Hooghly bridge that enables it to secure 30 miles of lead over its line. It would be more advantageous from its traffic point of view to send and receive its up country traffic via the Hooghly than via the Central Station. The proportion of its traffic to and from Calcutta town, as compared with its traffic it has to send across the river, must be enormously in favour of its Calcutta town traffic. The Eastern Bengal State Railway would, therefore, be taxed for a convenience that was against its interest, and which it did not require. But if financial considerations necessitate the levying of such a toll, then it should be levied only on such goods as actually cross the bridge. For the levying of a toll indiscriminately on all goods whether they cross the bridge or not, might seriously handicap trade.

Memorandum by Mr. Wynne on the proposal by Sir William Hunter

(2) As to the question of a Government guarantee, I cannot say that there is any need for it. The undertaking may either be left to a private company or to the several railways concerned and I must say that the character of the work is not sufficiently imperative to justify a Government guarantee, and if such a guarantee be given then the entire scheme as Mr. Wynne rightly points out, changes its nature, and becomes one of the many railway projects under the consideration of Government. The claim of the Syndicate to preference on the ground that they have originated the scheme is groundless as in addition to the project having been discussed by the public, committees were appointed by the Government more than once to have it considered and reported on.

(3) The quadrupling of the line between Sealdah and Naihati would not at present be very necessary as the proposed bridge at Cossipore would prevent for several years to come any serious congestion of traffic in that line

(4) In regard to the Bankura Howrah connection I may observe though it may be preferable to quadrupling the line from Sitarampore to Hooghly and from Naihati to the Docks via Sealdah we have not got enough data which would enable us to form a clear and definite opinion on the matter. In this connection it may be pointed out that the argument that the Howrah Bankura line would meet the increased volume of trade consequent on the opening of the more direct route to Calcutta via the Grand chord does not appear to be sound. There is however a general agreement as to the necessity of something being done without delay to relieve the congestion of traffic on certain parts of the East Indian Railway and for this quadrupling the line from Sitarampore down to, at least, Hooghly, appears to be a good idea.

The reference, in the promoters' letter to the Government of India to the increased traffic to be brought to Calcutta from the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway via the Grand chord line appears to be based on singular misconception of the facts. It is obvious that if any such diversion of traffic takes place as is suggested, it will only be from one part of the East Indian Railway to another and that the opening of the more direct route to Calcutta via the Grand chord will have no immediate effect on the total volume of traffic brought into Calcutta beyond what is due to the stimulus given to all traffic by the reduction of distance.

I enclose a copy of letter No. 108 dated 11th July 1900 from A. P. D. to the Secretary to the Board of Directors of the East Indian Railway Company.

4 Babu Joy Gobind Law's Note

I quite admit that a bridge and railway near Calcutta will be required at no distant future, but I do not think that that time has yet arrived. The existing Jubilee Bridge at Hooghly, according to my information, is quite sufficient to meet all demands upon it at present, and will be so, I understand, for some years yet. In this connection I should wish to point out that the blocks which lately occurred on the East Indian Railway, were not owing to any want of sufficient means of access to the Docks, but to the unusual pressure of traffic which the Railway, on the one hand, was unable to carry for want of an adequate supply of wagons, and, on the other hand, to insufficient accommodation and absence of proper arrangements at the Docks. This fact is sometimes lost sight of, and it is erroneously argued that an alternative route to the Docks is urgently required to remedy this state of things.

2 As soon however, as it became clearly apparent that a second route to the Docks was required, it would be for the Railways to combine and carry out the necessary works. In my view it is rather going too far to expect the Railways to levy a toll for the benefit of a third party.

3 In the sixth paragraph of the Committee's report reference is made to the toll that was imposed in the first instance for the building of the Howrah bridge, but which was subsequently taken off and the charges paid by the East Indian Railway and this fact is assumed as furnishing a precedent for the toll required by the Syndicate. It appears to me, however, to be carrying the argument too far to seek to apply a measure which only concerned an expenditure of about twenty three lakhs of rupees (which was the cost of the Howrah Bridge) to works which are variously estimated at from over four to seven crores.

4 Regarding the question of a site for a permanent bridge it seems to me that a bridge somewhere at Cossipore would be preferable to one in Calcutta for reasons which may be briefly stated as follow, viz —

1stly — That the town of Calcutta is only 6 square miles in area, and the building of a railway and a large passenger station within it will have the effect of intensifying overcrowding while the smoke arising from numerous engines incessantly shunting and marshalling trains, and passing to and fro, will certainly not contribute to the sanitation of the town, where the conditions of insanitation already existing, are, as we know, many and various.

2ndly — That a bridge at Cossipore would be practically out of harm's way in case of a recurrence of a cyclone such as that of 1864, when great damage was caused to the shipping, and ships were wrenched from their moorings, and some driven up the river as far as the sugar factory at Chitpur.

3rdly — That land at Cossipore would be much cheaper, and the bridge need not be raised any higher than may be required for the passage of country-boats and steam launches.

5 The suburban passengers, for whose special benefit the project of a passenger station is avowedly put forward, will not, as far as I can see, be in a relatively better position than they are in at present (Champatollah is not half a mile from Sealdah, and dwellers in the riparian wards, the trading centres of Calcutta, will be at a disadvantage, and will have just cause of complaint. The suggestion in the Committee's report about platform stations on an elevated railway will not, I believe, reduce the cost of the scheme, but will add to it for it appears to me that in any case a large station somewhere is a necessity of the scheme.

DRAFT RULES TO REGULATE THE TRANSPORT AND IMPORTATION OF EXPLOSIVES

IN supersession of the Notification by the Government of India, Home Department, No 1393 (Public), dated the 8th July 1897, and in exercise of the powers conferred by sections 5 and 7 of the Indian Explosives Act (IV of 1884), the Governor General in Council is pleased to make the following rules to regulate the transport and importation of explosives.

These rules extend to the whole of British India, but the rules relating to the transport of explosives shall cease to apply to any port as defined in the Indian Ports Act (X of 1889) for which special rules made by the Local Government are for the time being in force, in so far as they are expressly superseded by, or are inconsistent with, such special rules

Nothing in these Rules shall apply to the manufacture, possession, use, sale, transport, or importation of any explosive—

(a) by order of the Government, or

(b) by any person employed under the Government in the execution of the Indian Explosives Act (IV of 1884), or as a keeper of a magazine, artisan, soldier, sailor, policeman, or otherwise, or enrolled as a volunteer under the Indian Volunteers Act (XX of 1869), in the course of his employment or duty as such

PRELIMINARY

1 For the purposes of these rules, explosives shall be classified as follows, namely —

|         |                   |
|---------|-------------------|
| Class 1 | Gunpowder         |
| Class 2 | Nitrate mixture,  |
| Class 3 | Nitro compound,   |
| Class 4 | Chlorate-mixture, |
| Class 5 | Fulminate,        |
| Class 6 | Ammunition,       |
| Class 7 | Firework,         |

and when an explosive falls within the description of more than one class it shall be deemed to belong exclusively to the latest of the classes within the description of which it falls

CLASS 1 — Gunpowder Class

The term “gunpowder” means exclusively gunpowder ordinarily so called

CLASS 2 — Nitrate-mixture Class

The term “nitrate mixture” means any preparation, other than gunpowder ordinarily so called, formed by the mechanical mixture of a nitrate with any form of carbon or with any carbonaceous substance not possessed of explosive properties, whether sulphur be or be not added to such preparation, and whether such preparation be or be not mechanically mixed with any other non explosive substance

The nitrate mixture class comprises such explosives as—

|----------------------------------|--|--------------------------------|
| Chilworth special powder, |  | Ripp Leone,             |
| Fortis explosive,         |  | Safety blasting powder, |
|                                  |  | Westfallite,            |

and any preparation coming within the above definition

CLASS 3 — Nitro compound Class

The term “nitro compound” means any chemical compound possessed of explosive properties, or capable of combining with metals to form an explosive compound, which is produced by the chemical action of nitric acid (whether mixed or not with sulphuric acid) or of a nitrate mixed with sulphuric acid upon any carbonaceous substance, whether such compound is mechanically mixed with other substances or not

The nitro compound class has two divisions

Division 1 comprises such explosives as—

|                           |                           |
|---------------------------|---------------------------|
| Amberite No 1,     | Dynamite,          |
| Ballistite,        | Gelatins Dynamite, |
| Blasting Gelatine, | Gelignite,         |
| Carbonite,         | Lithofracteur,     |
| Cordite,           | Nitro glycerine,   |
|                           | Stonite,           |

and any chemical compound or mechanically mixed preparation which consists, either wholly or partly, of nitro-glycerine or some other liquid nitro compound

|---|--------------------------------------|
| Amberite No 2,                   | Nitrated gun cotton,          |
| Ammonite,                        | Picrates,                     |
| Ballite,                         | Picric powder,                |
| Copah's powder                   | Roburite,                     |
| Cotton gunpowder,                | Sawdust and gun cotton powder |
| E C powder                       | Schultz's powder,             |
| Gun cotton ordinarily so-called, | Tonite (or cotton powder),    | and any nitro compound as before defined which is not comprised in the first division

CLASS 4.—Chlorate-mixture Class

The term "chlorate mixture" means any explosive containing a chlorate

The chlorate mixture class has two divisions

Division 1 comprises such explosives as—

- Horsley's blasting powder
- Brain's blasting powder, and any chlorate preparation which consists partly of nitro glycerine or of some other liquid nitro compound

|--|--|
| Horsley's original blasting powder, | Hochstadter's blasting charges, |
| Richardt's powder                   | Ruchen's blasting charges,      |
| Reveley's powder                    | Teutonite,                      |
|  | Chlorated gun-cotton,           |

and any chlorate mixture as before defined which is not comprised in the first division

CLASS 5 —Fulminate Class

The term "fulminate" means any chemical compound or mechanical mixture whether included in the foregoing classes or not, which from its great susceptibility to detonation, is suitable for employment in percussion caps or any other appliances for developing detonation or which, from its extreme sensibility to explosion and from its great instability (that is to say, readiness to undergo decomposition from very slight exciting causes), is especially dangerous

The fulminate class has two divisions

Division 1 comprises such compounds as the fulminates of silver and of mercury and preparations of these substances, such as are used in percussion caps, and any preparation consisting of a mixture of a chlorate with phosphorus, or certain descriptions of phosphorus compounds, with or without the addition of carbonaceous matter, and any preparation consisting of a mixture of a chlorate with sulphur, or with a sulphuret, with or without carbonaceous matter

Division 2 comprises such substances as the chloride and the iodide of nitrogen, fulminating gold and silver, diazobenzol, and the nitrate of diazo benzol

CLASS 6 —Ammunition Class

The term "ammunition" means an explosive of any of the foregoing classes when enclosed in any case or contrivance, or otherwise adapted or prepared so as to form a cartridge or charge for small-arms, cannon, or any other weapon, or for blasting, or to form any safety or other fuze for blasting or for shells, or to form any tube for firing explosives, or to form a percussion cap, a detonator, a fog signal, a shell, a torpedo, a war rocket, or other contrivance other than a firework

The term "percussion-cap" does not include a detonator

The term "detonator" means a capsule or case which is of such strength and construction, and contains an explosive of the fulminate explosive class in such quantity that the explosion of one capsule or case will communicate the explosion to other like capsules or cases

The term "safety fuze" means a fuze for blasting which burns and does not explode, and which does not contain its own means of ignition, and which is of such strength and construction, and contains an explosive in such quantity, that the burning of such fuze will not communicate laterally with other like fuzes

The expression "safety cartridges" means cartridges for small arms of which the case can be extracted from the small arm after firing, and which are so closed as to prevent any explosion in one cartridge being communicated to other cartridges. The term also includes rifle-calibre machine gun cartridges if they are of the above description, whether they are for use with machine guns having chambers identical with those of rifles or with machine-guns which have special chambers

The maximum diameter at which a small arm or machine-gun cartridge can be accepted as "safety" is one inch

The ammunition class has three divisions.

Division 1 comprises exclusively—

|   |                      |
|---|----------------------|
| Safety cartridges,  | Railway fog-signals, |
| Safety fuzes for blasting,  | Percussion-caps      |
| Fuzes for shells, and tubes friction for guns, provided there be no more than five fuzes or 25 tubes in one package, and that the package be a hermetically sealed metal cylinder |                      |

Division 2 comprises any ammunition, as before defined, which does not contain its own means of ignition and is not included in division 1, such as—

Cartridges for small-arms, which are not safety cartridges,
 Cartridges and charges for cannon, shells, mines, blasting, or other like purposes,
 Shells and torpedoes containing any explosive,
 Fuzes for blasting, which are not safety fuzes,
 Fuzes for shells,
 Tubes for firing explosives,
 War rockets,

which do not contain their own means of ignition.

Division 3 comprises any ammunition as before defined, which contains its own means of ignition and is not included in division 1, such as—

Detonators,
 Cartridges for small arms, which are not safety cartridges,
 Fuzes for blasting, which are not safety fuzes,
 Fuzes for shells,
 Tubes for firing explosives,

which do contain their own means of ignition.

By ammunition containing its own means of ignition is meant ammunition having an arrangement, whether attached to it or forming part of it, which is adapted to explode or fire the same by friction or percussion

CLASS 7 — Firework Class

The firework class has two divisions

Division 1 comprises firework compositions, that is to say, any chemical compound or mechanically mixed preparation of an explosive or inflammable nature, which is used for the purpose of making manufactured fireworks, and is not included in the former classes of explosives, and also any and any coloured fire composition, subject to the proviso hereinafter set forth

Division 2 comprises manufactured fireworks, that is to say, any explosive of any of the foregoing classes and any firework composition, when such explosive or composition is enclosed in any case or contrivance, or is otherwise manufactured so as to form a squib, cracker, toy cap or amorce, serpent, rocket (other than a war rocket), maroon, lance, wheel, Chinese fire, Roman candle, or other article specially adapted for the production of pyrotechnic effects or pyrotechnic signals or sound signals

Provided that a substantially constructed and hermetically closed metal case containing not more than 1lb of coloured fire composition of such a nature as not to be liable to spontaneous ignition shall be deemed to be a "manufactured firework"

TRANSPORT

(a) Packing

2 The following general rules shall be observed with respect to the packing of explosives for conveyance —

I — Each class of explosives shall be separately packed

II — An explosive not being an explosive of the 5th (fulminate) class or of the 2nd and 3rd divisions of the 6th (ammunition) class, or of the 1st division of the 7th (firework) class, shall, if not exceeding 5lbs in quantity, be contained in a substantial case, bag, canister, or other receptacle made and closed so as to prevent the explosive from escaping

III — In every other case the explosive shall be contained in a double package. The inner package shall be a substantial case, bag, canister, or other receptacle made and closed so as to prevent the explosive from escaping, and the outer package shall be a box, barrel, or case of wood or metal or other solid material, and shall be of such strength, construction, and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened, or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow the explosive to escape

Provided as follows —

- (a) If the explosive is of the 1st (or gunpowder) class or of the 2nd (nitrate mixture) class, or of the 2nd division of the 3rd (nitro compound) class the quantity of the explosive in any one outer package shall not, in the case of explosives of the first two classes, exceed 100lbs, and in other cases 50lbs

If the explosive is picric acid, the inner package must be of such a nature as to effectually prevent any picric acid from coming into contact with any basic metallic oxide *

- (b) If the explosive belongs to the 1st division of the 3rd (nitro compound) class or to the 4th (chlorate mixture) class, the inner package shall be without any metal in its construction, and the inner or outer package, or both, shall be thoroughly waterproof † No one of the

* Note — This rule is intended to prevent picric acid being packed in a case lined with certain metals such as zinc or lead, which would result in danger arising from the formation of a picrate. Waterproof bags inside powder barrels are suggested as a simple and safe method of packing picric acid for transport or storage

† Note — From the requirement that the package should be waterproof are excepted

(1) All explosives falling in the 2nd division of the 4th (chlorate-mixture) class

(2) Those explosives included in the 1st division of the 3rd (nitro-compound) class which do not yield up their nitro glycerine in contact with water, such as blasting gelatine, gelatine dynamite, cordite and ballistite and gelignite: provided that any other substance than those named has been certified to be of this character by a Chief Inspector of Explosives inner packages shall contain more than 10lbs, and the aggregate quantity of the explosive in any one outer package shall not exceed 50lbs

- (c)—1 If the explosive belongs to the 5th (fulminate) class, and is of such character that it cannot be packed mixed with water, or that danger would arise from such mode of packing, it shall be packed in such manner as shall be specially directed by the Governor General in Council
- 2 Any other explosive of the fulminate class shall be packed as follows. It shall be packed in bags or coverings of calico, canvas or other material permeable to water, and containing each not more than 25lbs of fulminate, and so made and closed as to prevent any explosive from escaping. Such bags or coverings shall be packed in a case containing sufficient water to ensure the explosive being kept constantly wet, and such case (herein after called the inner case) shall be packed in an outer case containing sufficient water constantly to surround the inner case, and the inner case and the outer case shall each be of such strength, construction, and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow any fulminate or water to escape, and the amount of the explosive in any one outer case shall not exceed 200lbs, except with the consent of, and under conditions approved by, an Inspector of Explosives
- 3 Every package when actually used for the packing of one fulminate shall not be used for the packing of any other fulminate or for any other purpose
- 4 On the outer case there shall be affixed in conspicuous characters by means of a brand or securely attached label or other mark the word 'Explosive,' with the name of the explosive followed by the words 'Fulminate Division 1 (or 2 as the case may be) and name and address of the owner or sender
- d)—1 If an explosive belongs to the 1st division of the 6th (ammunition) class, it shall be contained in a box, barrel, or case of wood, metal or other solid material and of such strength, construction, and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened, or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow any explosive to escape
- 2 If the explosive belongs to the 2nd division of the 6th (ammunition) class, the following rules shall apply, viz —
- (1) A shell or torpedo containing any explosive material, whether such shell or torpedo be separate or form part of a rocket or other appliance, shall be packed in such manner as may be specially directed by the Governor General in Council with reference to such explosive
- (ii) Any explosive material when made up into a cartridge or charge for cannon, shells, mines, blasting, or other like purposes shall be packed in the manner required for the same explosive material when not so made up
- Provided that where a double package is required, the enclosing case of such cartridge or charge, if it satisfies the conditions required for the inner package, may be held to be such inner package
- ii) Any other explosive of the 2nd division shall be packed in a box, barrel, or case of wood, metal, or other solid material, and of such strength, construction and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened, or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow any explosive to escape and any one such package shall not contain more than 100lbs of ammunition.

- (e) If the explosive belongs to the 3rd division of the 6th (ammunition) class, it shall be packed in a double package. The inner package shall not contain more than 2lbs of such explosive and no more than 50lbs shall be contained in the outer package.

"Provided that, in the case of detonators, the following further rules shall also be observed namely —

- (i) The detonators and the spaces between the detonators and between the sides of the inner package and the detonators shall all be filled, as far as practicable, with fine sawdust or other similar material. A layer of cotton wool or other soft elastic material shall be placed between both ends of all the detonators and the interior of the inner package in which the detonators are placed in such manner and so secured that both ends of the detonators will rest upon the said cotton wool or other material. Every inner package, if of metal, shall be lined throughout with paper or other soft material.
- (ii) Where the number of detonators packed for conveyance exceeds in all one thousand (1,000), or such greater number as may from time to time be assigned with the consent of and under conditions approved by, an Inspector of Explosives all the inner packages as aforesaid shall be placed inside a substantial case of wood or metal made and closed, so as to prevent any of the inner packages escaping therefrom and the case shall be placed inside such outer packages as is required by the above general rule relating to the packing for conveyance of explosives of the 3rd division of the 6th (ammunition) class, in such manner and so secured as to leave a clear space of not less than three inches between every part of the interior of the said outer package, notwithstanding that such clear space may, if preferred, be filled with sawdust, straw or other similar material, or may contain a light framework or battens of wood to keep the case aforesaid in position in the outer package."
- (f) If the explosive belongs to the 1st division of the 7th (firework) class it shall be contained in a double package. The inner package shall be a substantial canister, case or other receptacle hermetically closed, and containing no more than 1lb of explosive, and no more than 20lbs shall be contained in the outer package and,
- (g) If the explosive belongs to the 2nd division of the 7th (firework) class, it shall be contained in a box, barrel or cases of wood, metal or other solid material, and of such strength, construction and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened, or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow any explosive to escape, and the quantity of explosive in any one package shall not exceed 100lbs.

IV — Whatever be the amount of the explosive, and to whatever class or division of a class it belongs, the following conditions shall be observed —

- (a) the interior of every package, whether single or double shall be kept free from grit and otherwise clean,
- (b) every package, whether single or double when actually used for the packing of the explosive, shall not be used for the packing of any other explosive of the same or any other class or for any other purpose, except with the consent of, and under conditions approved by, an Inspector of Explosives,
- (c) there shall not be any iron or steel in the construction of any such single package or inner or outer package unless the same is effectually covered with tin, zinc, or other suitable material,
- (d) on the outermost package there shall be affixed, in conspicuous characters, by means of a brand or securely attached label or mark, the word "Explosive" followed by the name of the explosive or other description of the contents and the name and address of the owners or senders, and

- (e) the amount of the explosive in any single package or, if there is a double package, in any one outer package, shall not exceed the amount specified in the foregoing rules, except with the consent of, and under conditions to be approved by an Inspector of Explosives or other officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf

3 Whoever commits a breach of any of the foregoing rules relating to the packing of explosives for conveyance shall be punishable with fine which may extend to Rs. 1,000 *

(b) Mode of conveyance

4 The following general rules shall be observed with respect to the conveyance of explosives —

I — No explosive shall be conveyed from place to place unless packed in the manner provided for in the foregoing rules

II — There shall not be conveyed in any carriage or vessel which is being used for the conveyance of an explosive, any explosive of a different class and division of whatsoever nature, which contains its own means of ignition, unless it is sufficiently separated therefrom to prevent any fire or explosion which may take place in one such explosive being communicated to another

III — Except in the case of small consignments carried by railway, which may be unloaded at any time explosives shall be loaded or unloaded only between sunrise and sunset For the purposes of this rule no consignment of more than half a wagon load booked to one station shall be deemed to be a small consignment

IV — Whilst the explosive is being loaded on or unloaded out of any carriage or vessel, no fire or artificial light nor any article which is liable to cause or communicate fire or explosion [such as charcoal, lucifer matches, articles for striking a light, petroleum to which the Petroleum Act (VIII of 1899) or any other Act for the time being in force regarding the importation, possession, and transport of petroleum, applies, or any spirit or oil or substance that gives forth an inflammable vapour at a temperature below 100° Fahrenheit] shall be, or shall be allowed to be, brought, had or used dangerously near to such carriage, ship, or boat, and no smoking shall be allowed in, on or dangerously near to, the same

Provided that when the use of a light for the purposes of such loading or unloading is unavoidable, a lamp of such construction, position, or character as not to cause any danger from fire or explosion may be used, and no person while handling any explosive (except an explosive of division 1, class 6, if packed in accordance with the packing rules), shall wear boots or shoes with iron or steel nails, heels or tips

V — In the loading or unloading of any explosive, the casks and packages containing the same shall be passed from hand to hand and not rolled upon the ground, they shall not be thrown or dropped down, but shall be carefully deposited and stowed

VI — The explosive shall not be conveyed except in the interior of a carriage so enclosed on all sides with wood or metal, or in the hold of a ship or boat having a close deck so closed, as effectually to protect the explosive against accident by fire from without If the explosive cannot be so secured, it shall be completely covered with painted cloth, tarpaulin, or other suitable material so as to effectually protect it against communication of fire

VII — There shall not be any iron or steel in the interior of the portion of the carriage or vessel with which the case containing the explosive is or may come in contact, unless the same is effectually covered with leather, wood, cloth, or other suitable material

* Rules regarding search for and detention of explosives contravening regulations have been issued by the Local Governments

VIII — In the stowing of the explosive, due precautions shall be taken by means of a partition or otherwise and by careful stowing to secure such explosive from being brought into contact with, or endangered by, any other article or substance conveyed in such carriage or vessel which is liable to cause fire or explosion, and if the explosive is dangerously affected by water due precautions shall be taken to exclude water from coming into contact with such explosive.

IX — The amount of the explosives conveyed in any one carriage or vessel at any one time shall not exceed 2 000 lbs unless the carriage be so enclosed on all sides with wood or metal, or the vessel have a close deck so closed, as effectually to protect the explosive against accident by fire from without in which case the amount of the explosives conveyed shall not exceed the following —

|----------------------------------|------|
| In any one carriage on a railway | 10   |
| In any one other carriage        | 2    |
| In any one vessel                | 20   |

NOTE — This rule shall in the case of dynamite conveyed by railway be read subject to paragraph XII of Rule 6

X — Nothing in the foregoing rules (except Rule 1) shall apply to any explosive of the 1st division of the 6th (ammunition) class

Provided that all due precautions are taken for the prevention of accidents

5 The following rules shall be observed with respect to the conveyance of explosives otherwise than by railway —

I — No explosive shall be conveyed in a carriage or boat whilst carrying or plying for public passengers unless the quantity is less than 5 lbs and notice has been given beforehand to the person in charge of such carriage or boat and all due precautions are taken for the prevention of accidents by fire or explosion

Provided that there shall not be conveyed in any such carriage or boat any explosive of the 5th (fulminate) class or any explosive of the 3rd division of the 6th (ammunition) class, or of the 1st division of the 7th (firework) class, except detonators packed according to the proviso to Rule 2 (III) (e) to the number of 200,

Provided that the amount of explosive of the 5th (fulminate) class in the detonators shall in no case exceed in the aggregate 3 oz (a certificate to this effect being given by the Agent of the Company by whom the detonators are tendered for transport)

Provided also that no other explosive is carried in the same compartment

II — With respect to the conveyance by carriage or vessel of explosives of the 5th (fulminate) class, or of the 3rd division of the 6th (ammunition) class, or of the 1st division of the 7th (firework) class, or of larger quantities than 5 lbs of any other explosive, the following regulations shall be observed —

- (1) The person in charge of the carriage or vessel shall not drive or conduct the same in a dangerous or reckless manner, and shall take all due precautions to avoid fire and explosion, and no person shall do any act or thing in relation to the explosive which tends to cause fire or explosion, and is not reasonably necessary for the conveyance of the explosive or for work immediately connected with such conveyance, and a person who is intoxicated shall not have charge of any carriage or vessel conveying explosive, and shall not be permitted to be in, or on, or attending the same
- (2) A person shall not forward to any warehouseman or carrier a consignment of explosive, unless he has given notice to such warehouseman or carrier beforehand, stating the name and quantity of the explosive proposed to be conveyed, and the name and address of the proposed consignee and has had an intimation that the warehouseman or carrier is prepared to receive the consignment, and a warehouseman or carrier shall not make such an intimation, nor receive such consignment, unless he is prepared to receive it, and forthwith to despatch the same, or to deposit it in a magazine or at a place at which a person is licensed to possess the same

- (3) The carriage or vessel conveying the explosive shall be in charge of, and constantly attended by, some competent person, or by a sufficient number of competent persons, and such persons shall not, if the amount of the explosive conveyed exceed 100lbs, stop or delay for a longer time than may be reasonably necessary, or stop unnecessarily at any place where such stopping would be attended with special public danger

6 The following rules shall be observed with respect to the conveyance of explosives by public railway —

I — No person shall send for carriage upon any railway any consignment of an explosive, unless he has given to the officer in charge of the railway station previous notice in writing which, at the option of the Railway Administration may extend to 48 hours, of his intention to send such consignment, and stating the true name, description, quantity, and mode of packing of the explosive proposed to be conveyed, and his own name and address, and also the name and address of the proposed consignee, and unless he has had an intimation in writing from an authorised officer of the railway that such consignment will be received

II — No explosive which a Railway Administration shall, by any notice or regulation for the time being in force, notify that they will not receive, shall be brought sent, or forwarded to, or upon any railway of the said Railway Administration

III — Consignments of explosives shall be sent to the forwarding station and shall be received by the railway servants only at such times, between sunrise and sunset, as the Railway Administration may appoint, and every package containing any explosive proposed to be conveyed on any railway shall immediately on arrival at the station be unloaded and placed in a safe place under the special direction of the officer in charge of the station

All gunpowder under despatch or receipt by a Government arsenal, dépôt, or factory shall be loaded or unloaded in the railway vans by Government servants employed in such arsenal dépôt or factory. In each van used by the railway for the transport of gunpowder the packages of gunpowder shall be secured in such a way as to prevent concussion when the train is in motion

IV — An explosive shall be removed by the consignee from the receiving station during the twelve hours of daylight after arrival. If this condition is not strictly complied with, the Railway Administration may return the consignment to the consignor at his risk and expense. And such packages shall in the meanwhile be kept as far away from the station buildings as possible, in the wagon they were conveyed in or, if unloaded, shall be completely covered with tarpaulins or other suitable material, and if necessary, shall be protected by a police guard

V — The Railway Administration may refuse to receive any packages which they suspect to contain any explosive picked or sent in contravention of these regulations. And in case any package, which the Railway Administration suspect, shall be upon any railway, the Railway Administration may open, or require to be opened, such package, to ascertain the fact, at the risk and expense of the consignor, and may return the explosive contained in the package to the consignor at his risk and expense, keeping the packages, pending such return, in the manner prescribed in the preceding rule

VI — Subject to the exception provided for in clause (e), no explosive shall be conveyed by passenger train except of the kinds and in the manner hereinafter specified in this rule —

(a) Safety cartridges and percussion caps and safety fuze (for blasting), also fog signals for railway use which may be conveyed in ordinary wagons or carriages

(b) Explosives of the 3rd (nitro-compound class) which may be carried in the form of cartridges up to the limit of 5lbs

Provided that no detonators are carried in the same compartment

(c) Detonators packed according to the proviso to Rule 2 (III) (e) may be carried to the number of 200

Provided that in no case the amount of fulminate of mercury in the package or packages containing the detonators exceeds in the aggregate 3 oz (a certificate to this effect being given by the Company, firm, or person tendering the detonators for transport or by its or his agent)

Provided also that no other explosive is carried in the same compartment

(d) Sporting gunpowder or non safety cartridges packed in double cases as before provided, so long as the gunpowder is contained in one pound tin canisters packed in a stout wooden case with an outer covering of tin or zinc completely spark proof, or in metal lined cases of a pattern approved by the Railway Administration. But no outer case shall contain more than 25lbs of gunpowder, and the total consignment of gunpowder or non safety cartridges by one train shall not exceed 80lbs

(e) Explosives may be carried by mixed trains on any line on which goods trains are not running, subject to the conditions that they are loaded in properly constructed powder vans, that not more than one powder van containing explosives is forwarded at any one time by a mixed train, that there are not less than three vehicles between the powder van and either the engine or the passenger coaches, that the powder van is close coupled to the adjoining vehicles, and that directly a powder van containing explosives arrives at a section on which goods trains are running, it is detached from the mixed train

VII —Not more than five carriages containing explosives shall be loaded or unloaded at any railway station, or be conveyed by any one train at any one time, and the quantity of explosive to be contained in any one carriage shall not exceed two thirds of the normal load, unless the carriages shall be specially built and approved of by the Government of India for the conveyance of explosives. But nothing in this clause shall be held to apply to separate consignments of safety cartridges for small arms

VIII —There shall not be conveyed in the same carriage with any explosive any lucifer or other matches, fuzes, pipelights, acids, naphtha, paraffine, petroleum to which the Petroleum Act (VIII of 1899), or any other Act for the time being in force regarding the importation, possession, and transport of petroleum, applies, or any other volatile spirit or substance liable to give off an inflammable vapour or liable to spontaneous ignition, or to cause or communicate fire or explosion

IX —The consignor shall attach to the consignment note a certificate or (provided the original is produced for verification) copy of a certificate, signed by an officer authorised by the Local Government in this behalf that the explosive, if it is an explosive of class 3 or 4, is of the standard purity, and further in the case of dynamite, and all nitro glycerine compounds, that there are no signs of exuded nitro glycerine or of liquefaction. The consignor shall also certify that the explosive has been packed in accordance with the packing rules in force in England or in British India

X —In the case of explosives under classes 3 and 4 the outer packages shall be marked with the date of the manufacture of the explosives. The abovementioned certificate shall contain sufficient information to admit of all packages being easily recognised

XI —The certificate referred to in Rule IX shall be valid for six months after date, if the examination has been made between the 15th October and 31st March, but any Railway Administration which accepts dynamite and other nitro-glycerine compounds for transport may demand a fresh certificate for these explosives if presented for conveyance between 1st April and 15th October (both inclusive)

XII —Packages containing dynamite and other blasting explosives of the 3rd (nitro-compound) class, or explosives of the 4th (chlorate mixture), 5th (fulminate) classes or of the 1st division of the 7th (firework) class shall be stowed in one layer only and secured so as to prevent movement during transit, and the gross load in any one wagon shall not exceed 3 tons

Provided that, if the packages of explosive are in rectangular form and are properly secured so as to prevent movement during transit, they may be stowed in any number of layers not exceeding five, and the gross load in any one wagon shall not exceed 5 tons

XIII —No explosive of the 5th (fulminate) class or of the 3rd division in the 6th (ammunition) class, or of the 7th (firework) class shall be carried of the same train with any explosive not of the class and division to which it belongs, unless it be sufficiently separated therefrom to prevent any fire or explosion which may take place in one such explosive being communicated to another

XIV — Wagons used for the carriage of explosive shall be examined to see that they are spark proof and have been cleaned out before they are loaded. Hair, cloth, hides, or other suitable materials shall be spread on the floor of the wagon and between each layer of packages except when the packages are covered with gunny or felt or contain safety cartridges for small arms packed in tin lined service pattern boxes

XV — Wagons containing explosives shall be loaded and unloaded on sidings distant as far as possible from the station buildings

XVI — Packages containing explosives other than those referred to in Rule 6 (XII) shall not be stored in more than three layers one above the other. But if the packages are in rectangular form and of uniform size (provided they are double packages, and are so secured as to prevent movement during transit) they may be packed in five layers one above the other. But in the case of safety cartridges for small arms packed in tin lined service pattern boxes, there is no restriction. Subject to the provisions of Rule 1 (III), the loading and unloading of explosives when once begun shall be diligently proceeded with until the same is completed

XVII — When the train is being marshalled wagons loaded with explosives may be shunted by a locomotive, if they are separated from the engine by not less than three wagons containing no explosive nor easily inflammable substance. This precaution is not necessary with wagons specially constructed for the carriage of explosives. The speed of these movements shall be restricted to 5 miles an hour, they shall be superintended by a duly authorised officer who shall be held responsible for the observance of these orders. Flying shunts are strictly prohibited

XVIII — Wagons containing explosives shall be placed at the end of the train away from the locomotive, and shall be close coupled to one another as well as to the adjoining wagons, and preceded and followed by three wagons not loaded with explosives or other traffic of an inflammable nature

XIX — If the wagons employed in the transport of explosives are provided with brakes other than iron brakes, the brakes thereon shall on no account be worked while the wagons are running with a train, nor shall brakes other than iron brakes on vehicles immediately adjoining such wagons, be worked while such wagons are so running

XX — Wagons shall in every case be locked when loaded with explosives

XXI — All operations connected with the transshipment of explosives at junction stations shall take place during daylight

7 Whoever commits a breach of any of the foregoing rules relating to the mode of conveyance of explosives shall be punishable with a fine which may extend to Rs 100

IMPORTATION

8 An explosive shall not be imported by sea into British India, except under, and in accordance with, the conditions of a license to import the explosive granted under these rules

Provided that any explosive other than an explosive specified in Rule 11 may, previous to the grant of an importation license, if certified to be of British manufacture or, if not of British manufacture, if imported from the United Kingdom and covered by the certificate granted by one of Her Majesty's Inspectors of Explosives in England, be landed in accordance with such regulations as the Local Government may prescribe in this behalf, and be stored in a place set apart by the Local Government for this purpose. The Governor General in Council may extend this privilege to any such explosive not of British manufacture regarding which he is satisfied that it has been manufactured under adequate official supervision

Before any explosive is landed under the proviso to this rule, the consignee shall give to the Chief Customs Officer of the Port such undertaking, with or without security, as the said officer thinks sufficient, to obey, in the event of the explosive failing to satisfy the prescribed tests, such directions as to its disposal as the Local Government may see fit to prescribe

If samples are taken by an officer deputed by the Chief Customs Officer on board the ship on its arrival the procedure shall be that prescribed in Rule 15

9 Whoever imports an explosive in contravention of Rule 8 shall be punishable with fine which may extend to three thousand rupees

10 An explosive shall not be imported by sea except at one of the Ports of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon, Calicut, Karachi, Aden and (in the case of crackers only) Negapatam. But a license to import an explosive by sea from Rangoon into the port of Aljib Moulmein, Sandoway, Kyauk Phoo, Tavoy or Merga, as the case may be, may be granted by the Magistrate of the district in which such port is situated. The fee payable in respect of each such license shall be one rupee, and the license shall be in Form A in the Schedule hereto annexed.

11 If the explosive is gunpowder or an explosive of the 1st division of the 6th (ammunition) class or an explosive of the 7th (firework) class the license to import the same may be granted at the Port of Calcutta, Madras or Bombay by the Commissioner of Police, and at the Port of Rangoon, Calicut, Karachi, Aden or Negapatam by the District Magistrate.

12 The fee payable in respect of each such license shall be Rs10, but if any explosive imported under a license into a British port is exported thence to another British port named in Rule 10 the necessary license for such re import may be granted on payment of a fee of one rupee instead of Rs10.

13 Licenses for the importation by sea of any explosives other than those specified in Rule 11 shall be granted by the Local Government or by some officer specially authorised by the Local Government in this behalf.

14 No license shall be granted for the importation of any explosive of the description referred to in Rule 13, unless it is an explosive authorized for manufacture in or importation into the United Kingdom for general sale and if it is an explosive for which a test or examination has been prescribed by or under the orders of the Government of India, unless samples of the explosive taken as hereinafter provided are certified by the Chemical Examiner or some other officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf to have passed the test or examination from time to time prescribed

15 On the arrival in any port at which the importation of explosives is lawful of a ship having on board an explosive other than an explosive of the description referred to in Rule 11, such officer as the Chief Customs Officer authorises in this behalf shall, as soon as may be, proceed on board and shall if testing or examination is requisite under the last preceding rule obtain samples of the explosive.

All explosives of which samples are taken for examination shall be forthwith deposited in a duly licensed place or places of storage and shall not be distributed for use until the importer has received from the licensing authority notice that it may be so distributed.

The master of the ship shall give to the said officer, without charge, such samples as he may require. The said officer shall affix to each such sample the name of the ship and of the consignee and such other distinguishing marks as he may think necessary, and shall forward the same to the Chemical Examiner or officer, as aforesaid, for report.

The Chemical Examiner or officer as aforesaid, after testing the said samples, shall without delay forward to the licensing authority through the Chief Customs Officer a report under his signature certifying whether the explosive has satisfied the prescribed test.

15 A Explosives, other than those referred to in Rule 11 which have already undergone the test prescribed by Rules 14 and 15 at the ports of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon, Calicut, Karachi, or Aden, may be re imported by sea into any other of those ports under a license granted under Rule 13, without re testing, but subject, in the case of such explosives as are mentioned in Rule 6, Clause IX, to the production of the certificate prescribed in that clause.

*Such certificate shall be valid for six months after date, if the examination has been made between the 15th October and 31st March but in the case of dynamite, a fresh certificate may be demanded if the consignment is imported between the 1st April and 15th October (both inclusive)

16 The period for which a license to import an explosive, granted under Rule 13, shall continue in force shall not exceed such period as may seem necessary to the authority granting the license.

17 The fee payable on a license granted under Rule 13 shall be Rs10, but if any explosive imported under a license into a British port is exported thence to another British port named in Rule 10, the necessary license for such re import may be granted on payment of a fee of one rupee instead of Rs10

18 Every license granted under Rules 11 and 13 shall be in Form A in the Schedule hereto annexed, and shall be subject to the conditions therein prescribed, and also to such additional conditions with respect to the time and place of unloading, landing, delivery and conveyance of the explosive, and such other conditions as may in each case be thought by the licensing officer to be necessary for the public safety or in the interests of the State

19 Whoever commits a breach of any condition subject to which a license under Rules 11 and 13 is granted, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to three thousand rupees

GENERAL

20 Every license granted under these rules shall be liable to be forfeited on breach of any of the conditions subject to which it is granted

21 If a person licensed to import an explosive dies or becomes bankrupt or becomes mentally incapable or otherwise disabled, the person carrying on the business of such licensee shall not be liable to any penalty or forfeiture under the Indian Explosives Act (IV of 1884) or the rules thereunder for acting under the license during such reasonable time as may be necessary to allow him to make an application to the authority granting the license for a new license in his own name during the currency of the unexpired portion of the original license. Such new license shall be granted on payment of one rupee

22 The fees leviable under these rules shall be taken in the shape of impressed stamps. Ordinarily the applications for licenses or renewals of licenses shall if not otherwise provided be written on impressed stamps of value equal to the amount of fee leviable in respect of such licenses or renewals, the licenses themselves being issued on plain paper. But when the licenses themselves are written on printed or impressed stamps, the application may be on plain paper. When an application for license is written on an impressed stamp and the license is refused, the value of the stamp will, on application, be refunded to the applicant

23 When a license granted in accordance with these rules is lost or accidentally destroyed, a duplicate may be granted to the licensee on payment of a fee of 8 annas

24 Any person holding a license, or acting under a license granted in accordance with these rules shall be bound to produce the same when called upon to do so by any Magistrate, or by any Police officer in charge of a Police station, or by any Police officer of higher rank

25 All Magistrates or other authorities acting under these rules shall perform their duties subject to the control of their executive superiors and of the Local Government

26 Any authority empowered to grant a license under the foregoing rules may, if he thinks fit direct by any order written on the license that it shall have the effect of a like license under the Indian Arms Act (XI of 1878)

27 Any persons lawfully entitled under the Indian Arms Act, 1878 (X of 1878), or the rules thereunder, to possess any explosive coming under the head of ammunition as defined in that Act, may possess or import without license under these rules any such explosive in such quantities as may be prescribed by that Act or the rules thereunder or, when no quantities are prescribed, in reasonable quantities for his own private use, but, when an explosive is so imported, the Collector of Customs or any other officers empowered by the Local Government in this behalf by name or by virtue of his office may at any time detain such explosive until he receives the orders of the Local Government thereon.

24 Any person holding a license, or acting under a license granted in accordance with these rules, shall be bound to produce the same when called upon to do so by any Magistrate, or by any Police officer in charge of a Police station, or by any Police officer of higher rank.

Draft Rule for Testing Explosives

WITH reference to Rule 14 of the Rules to regulate the transport and importation of explosives published with Home Department Notification No. 1393 dated the 5th July 1897 the Governor General in Council is pleased to make the following Rule on the subject of the tests which explosives should be required to pass before their importation is permitted

RULE

Class 1—Gunpowder class. Gunpowder is not required to pass a test

Class 2—Nitrate mixture class. Nitrate mixture explosives are not ordinarily required to pass a test. The Local Government, however, or the authorized officer granting the import license under Rule 13 of the Rules to regulate the transport and importation of explosives published with Home Department Notification No. 1393 dated the 5th July 1897 may in any particular case or class of cases require that a sample of the explosive which is to be imported be sent first to the Chemical Examiner for an analysis of its constituent parts

Class 3—Nitro compound class. It is for explosives of this class that testing is chiefly required in respect to the purity of their composition and their liability to liquefaction or oxidation. The tests prescribed for nitro compound explosives are contained in Schedule A attached to this rule

Class 4—Chlorate mixture class. See Schedule A for remarks regarding the testing of this class ( )

Class 5—Fulminate class. No test has been laid down for explosives of the Fulminate class ( )

Class 6—Ammunition class. No test is required for explosives of the 1st Division of this class. If the substances of which explosives of the 2nd and 3rd Divisions are composed have to be tested under the preceding rules they will be equally liable to be tested when enclosed in any case or container and thus falling under the Ammunition class

Class 7—Ternitro class. Explosives of this class are not required to pass a test

SCHEDULE A

Heat Test as applied to Explosives of the Nitro compound Class.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

Apparatus required

1. A water bath, consisting of a spherical glass or copper vessel [(a) Fig. 1] of about 8 inches diameter and with an aperture of about 5 inches, the bath is filled with water to within a quarter of an inch of the edge. It has a loose cover of sheet copper about 6 inches in diameter (b), and rests on a tripod stand about 14 inches high (c) which is covered with coarse iron wire gauze (e), and is surrounded with a screen of thin sheet tin or copper (d). Within the latter is placed an Argand burner (f) with glass chimney. The cover (b) has four holes arranged as seen in Fig. 11, No. 4 to receive the regulator, No. 3 the thermometer, Nos. 1 and 2 the test tubes containing the gun cotton or other materials to be tested. Around holes 1 and 2 on the under side of the cover are soldered three pieces of brass wire with points slightly converging

Fig III), these act as springs and allow the test tubes to be easily placed in position and removed

* 2 Schebler's or Paget's temperature regulator

Two cells of Le Clanche's battery No 1 } if Schebler's regulator is used

* 4 A few yards of insulated copper wire }

5 Test tubes from  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $5\frac{1}{2}$  inches long and of such diameter that they will hold from 20 to 22 cubic centimeters of water when filled to a height of 5 inches

6 India rubber stoppers fitting the test tubes and carrying in arrangement for holding the test paper i.e. a narrow glass tube passing through the centre of the stopper drawn out so as to form a hook, or terminating in a platinum wire hook (Fig IV)

7 A thermometer with range not less than from  $30^{\circ}$  to  $212^{\circ}$  Fahrenheit

8 A minute clock

Materials required

(a)\* Test paper — The test paper is prepared as follows — 45 grams of white maize starch (cornflour) previously washed with cold water are added to 8 ounces of distilled water the mixture is stirred heated to boiling and kept gently boiling for 10 minutes, 15 grams of pure potassium iodide i.e. which has been recrystallized from alcohol are dissolved in  $\frac{1}{2}$  ounces of distilled water. The two solutions are thoroughly mixed and allowed to get cold. Strips or sheets, of white English filter paper previously washed with water and dried are dipped into the solution thus prepared, and allowed to remain in it for not less than 10 seconds they are then allowed to drain and dry in a place free from laboratory fumes and dust. The upper and lower margins of the strips or sheets, are cut off, and the paper is preserved in well stoppered or corked bottles, and in the dark†. The dimensions of the pieces of test paper used are about  $\frac{1}{10}$  inch by  $\frac{1}{10}$  inch (10 mm by 20 mm)

* This is not absolutely required as the temperature of the bath can be kept constant by proportion to the heating flame

† When a paper is freshly prepared and as long as it remains in good condition a drop of dilute acetic acid put on the paper with a glass rod produces no coloration. In process of time however the stronger the light to which the paper is exposed the sooner a drop of the acid produces a brown or bluish coloration (a single hour of direct sunlight produces a marked effect) and whenever it is the case the paper should be rejected. On this account it is advisable not to prepare too much of the test paper at one time but to prepare it fresh every month or so

(b) Standard tint paper—A solution of caramel in water is made of such concentration that when diluted one hundred times (10 cc made up to 1 litre) the tint of this diluted solution equals the tint produced by the Nessler test in 100 cc water containing 0.000075 gram of ammonium or 0.00023505 gram of chloride of ammonium. With this caramel solution lines are drawn on strips of white filter paper\* by means of a dry quill pen. When the muls thus produced are dry the paper is cut into pieces of the same size as the test paper previously described in such a way that each piece has a brown line across it near the middle of its length and only such strips are preserved in which the brown line has a breadth varying from  $\frac{1}{2}$  mm to 1 mm ( $\frac{1}{10}$  of an inch to  $\frac{1}{2}$  of an inch).

I Testing Dynamite, Blasting Gelatine, and other Explosives of the First Division of the Nitro compound Class

A—DYNAMITE 170 110

Nitro glycerine preparations from which the nitro glycerine can be extracted in the manner described below must satisfy the following test; otherwise they will not be considered as manufactured with 'thoroughly purified nitro glycerine' within the terms of the license.

Apparatus required

A funnel 2 inches across (d) a cylindrical measure divided into grains (c) (See sketch)

Mode of operation

About 300 to 400 grains of dynamite (b) finely divided are placed into the funnel, which has previously been loosely plugged by some freshly ignited asbestos (a).

The surface is smoothed by means of a flat headed glass rod or stopper and some clean washed and dried Kieselgur (e) is spread over it to the depth of about  $\frac{1}{8}$  inch.

Water is next carefully dropped from a wash bottle upon this Kieselgur and when the first portion has been soaked up, more is added this is repeated until sufficient nitro glycerine has been collected in the graduated measure (c) below.

If any water should have passed through with the nitro glycerine, it should be removed with a piece of blotting paper and the nitro glycerine, if necessary, filtered through a dry paper filter.

* This paper must be carefully washed with distilled water in the first instance to remove any traces of coloring matter and dried.

† It is to be noted that at present looked upon as the most important as far as testing the purity of the nitro glycerine is now and is in fact only one of a vital which any given sample of nitro glycerine preparation has to satisfy in order to establish its compliance with the definition in the license.

Application of the Test

The thermometer is fixed so as to be inserted through the lid of the water bath described under I page 2 into the water (which is to be steadily maintained at a temperature of 160° Fahr) to a depth of 2½ inches. Fifty grams of nitro glycerine to be tested are weighed into a test tube in such a way as not to soil the sides of the tube. A test paper is fixed on the hook of the glass rod so that when inserted into the tube it will be in a vertical position. A sufficient amount of a mixture of half distilled water and half glycerine to moisten the upper half of the paper is now applied to the upper edge of the test paper by means of a camel's hair pencil the cork carrying the rod and paper is fixed into the test tube and the position of the paper adjusted so that its lower edge is about half way down the tube. The latter is then inserted through one of the perforations of the cover to such a depth that the lower margin of the moistened part of the paper is about five eighths of an inch above the surface of the cover. The test is complete when the tint brown line which after a time makes its appearance at the line of boundary between the dry and moist part of the paper equals in tint the brown line of the standard tint paper.

The nitro glycerine under examination will not be considered as "thoroughly purified" within the terms of the license unless the time necessary to produce the standard tint as above described is at least 15 minutes.

B—BLASTING GELATINE GELATINE DYNAMITE AND ANALOGOUS PREPARATIONS

Fifty (50) grams of blasting gelatine are to be intimately incorporated with one hundred (100) grams of French chalk*. The mixture is to be gradually introduced into a test tube of the dimensions prescribed above for the dynamite heat test with the aid of gentle tapping upon the table between the introduction of successive portions of the mixture into the tube, so that when the tube contains all the mixture it shall be filled to the extent of 1½ inches (one inch and three quarters) of its height. The test paper is then to be inserted and the heat is to be applied in the manner prescribed above for the dynamite heat test and the sample tested is to withstand exposure to 160 Fahr for a period of ten (10) minutes before producing a discoloration of the test papers corresponding in tint to the standard colour test which is employed for governing the results of the dynamite heat test.

(For Exudation and Liqescence tests for Blasting Gelatine etc., etc., see Appendix p 7)

N B—Non gelatinized nitro glycerine preparations from which the nitro glycerine cannot be expelled by water are tested without any previous separation of the ingredients, the temperature being as above (160 Fahr) and the time being seven (7) minutes.

C—CORDITE AND BALLISTITE

1 Apparatus required

The apparatus necessary for the application of the heat test to cordite is identical with that described above (see page 2) for explosives of the nitro compound class generally† with the addition of a mill and a nest of sieves similar to those used at Waltham Abbey for preparing the cordite for testing (see instructions below)

* This can be readily effected by carefully working the two materials together with a wooden pestle in a wooden mortar.

The French chalk should be of good commercial purity and after being as fully washed with distilled water and dried in a water oven it should be exposed under a bell jar to air until it has taken up at least 0.5 per cent of moisture. It should then be bottled for use and with ordinary care the limits of 0.1 per cent can be maintained in keeping.

† In the Waltham Abbey apparatus the cover (Fig II) has all the holes around the circumference of leaving one in the centre and three around the circumference.

2 Preparation of the sample to be tested

Pieces half an inch long are cut from one end of every stick selected for the test, in the case of the thicker cordites each piece so cut is further subdivided into about four portions. These cut pieces are then passed two or three times through the mill, the first portion of material which passes through being rejected on account of the possible presence of foreign matter from the mill. The ground material is put on the top sieve of the nest of sieves and sifted. That portion which has passed through the top sieve and been stopped by the second is taken for the test. After each sample has been ground the mill must be taken to pieces and carefully cleaned.

3 Application of the Test

The thermometer is fixed so as to be inserted through the lid of the water bath described under I page so as to be immersed in the water to a depth of  $2\frac{3}{4}$  inches. The water is maintained at a constant temperature of  $150^{\circ}$  Fahr. When this temperature is reached 25 grains of the sifted cordite are put into one of the test tubes and collected at the bottom by gentle tapping. A test paper is fixed on to the hook of the glass rod so that when inserted into the tube it will be in a vertical position. A mixture of equal parts of distilled water and pure glycerine (1 part each) is now applied to the upper edge of the test paper by means of a camel's hair pencil in sufficient amount to moisten the upper half. The stopper carrying the rod and paper is fixed into the test tube and the position of the paper adjusted so that its lower edge is about half way down the tube. The latter is then inserted through one of the perforations of the cover to the same depth as the thermometer. The lower margin of the moistened part of the paper should then be about five eighths of an inch above the surface of the cover. The test is completed when the faint brown line which after a time makes its appearance at the margin between the wet and dry portions of the test paper equals in depth of tint the brown line drawn on the standard tint paper.

4 The time which elapses between the insertion of the test tube and the completion of the test must not be less than 15 minutes.

A B—In the case of ballistite the treatment is the same except that when it is in a very finely granulated condition it need not be cut up.

II—Testing Gun cotton, Schultze Gunpowder, E C Powder, and other Explosives of the 2nd Division of the Nitro compound Class

A—GUN COTTON (NITRE LIC, ETC)

Sufficient material to serve for two or more tests is removed from the centre of the cartridge by gentle scraping and if necessary further reduced by rubbing between the fingers.

The fine powder thus produced is spread out in a thin layer upon a plate tray 6 inches by  $4\frac{1}{2}$  inches which is then placed inside a water oven kept as nearly as possible at  $120^{\circ}$  Fahr.

The wire gauze shelves in the oven should be about 3 inches apart. The sample is allowed to remain at rest for 15 minutes in the oven, the door of which is left wide open.

After the lapse of 15 minutes the tray is removed and exposed to the air of the room for two hours, the sample being at some point within that time rubbed upon the tray with the hand, in order to reduce it to a fine and uniform state of division.

Application of the Test

The cover of the water bath is fitted with the gas regulator which is inserted through the centre hole (No 4). The thermometer is fixed into hole No 3. The water in the bath is then heated to  $170^{\circ}$  Fahr, and the regulator set to maintain that temperature. Twenty grains of the sample to be tested are weighed out, placed in the test tube, and gently pressed down until the specimen occupies a space of as nearly as possible  $1\frac{5}{8}$  inches in a test tube of the dimensions specified. A test paper is affixed to the hook of the glass rod or tube, and moistened by touching the upper edge with a drop of distilled water containing 50 per cent of Price's glycerine. The quantity of liquid used must be only sufficient to moisten about half of the paper. The cork carrying the rod and test paper is then fixed into the test tube and the latter inserted into the bath to a depth of  $2\frac{1}{2}$  inches, measured from the cover, the regulator and thermometer being inserted to the same depth. The test paper is to be kept near the top of the test tube, but clear of the cork until the tube has been immersed for about five minutes. A ring of moisture will about this time be deposited upon the sides of the test tube a little above the cover of the bath, the glass rod must then be lowered until the lower margin of the moistened part of the paper is on a level with the bottom of the ring of moisture in the tube, the paper is now closely watched. The test is complete when a very faint brown coloration makes its appearance at the line of boundary between the dry and moist parts of the paper.

The interval of time between the first insertion of the tube containing the sample of gun cotton in the water at  $170^{\circ}$  and the first appearance of discoloration on the paper constitutes the test, and this interval of time must be not less than 10 minutes, or the sample will not be accepted as properly purified.

B — GELATINIZED GUN COTTON PREPARATIONS *

Twenty-five grains introduced into test tube of the dimensions prescribed for the dynamite heat test, then proceed as for Blasting Gelatine, etc., taking the temperature at  $180^{\circ}$  Fahr, and the time as 15 minutes.

C — SCHULTZE POWDER, E C POWDER, COLLODION COTTON, ETC, ETC

Sufficient of the sample, without further mechanical division, is dried in the oven as above, and then exposed for two hours to the air. The test as directed above for Compressed Gun cotton, etc., is then applied, the minimum duration of test being the same, viz, 10 minutes.

D — PICRIC ACID

(1) The material shall contain not more than 0.3 part of mineral or non-combustible matter in 100 parts by weight of the material dried at  $160^{\circ}$  Fahr.

(2) One hundred parts of the dry material shall not contain more than 0.3 part of total (free and combined) sulphuric acid, of which not more than 0.1 part shall be free sulphuric acid.

(3) Twenty grains of the material shall stand the heat test as laid down for dynamite (see ante, p 206) for not less than 15 minutes.

E — AMMONITE, BELLITE, ROBURITE, AND EXPLOSIVES OF SIMILAR COMPOSITION

These are required to stand the same heat test as gun cotton (see ante, p 208).

III — Testing Chlorate Mixtures

No tests have yet been laid down, as at present there are no authorized explosives of this class, but in the event of any being authorized, it would be necessary to require that they should satisfy the heat test laid down for Gun-cotton, and from time to time the degree of sensitiveness to percussion or friction (especially a glancing blow) should be observed.

* If in a compressed form it should be broken up in the same manner as cordite and ballistite.

APPENDIX

Exudation and Liquefaction Test for blasting Gelatine, Gelatine Dynamite and Analogous Preparations

TEST FOR LIQUEFACTION

A cylinder of blasting gelatine is to be cut from the cartridge to be tested, the length of the cylinder to be about equal to its diameter and the ends being cut flat.

The cylinder is to be placed on end on a flat surface without any wrapper and secured by a pin passing vertically through its centre.

In this condition the cylinder is to be exposed for one hundred and forty hours (141) consecutive hours (six days and nights) to a temperature ranging from 80° to 90° Fahr (inclusive), and during such exposure the cylinder shall not diminish in height by more than one fourth of its original height, and the upper cut surface shall retain its flatness and the sharpness of its edge.

A B—If the blasting gelatine and the gelatine dynamite to be tested be not made up in a cylindrical form the above test is to be applied with the necessary modifications.

TEST FOR LIABILITY TO EXUDATION

There shall be no separation from the general mass of the blasting gelatine or gelatine dynamite of a substance of less consistency than the bulk of the remaining portion of the materials under any conditions of storage, transport, or use or when the material is subjected three times in succession to alternate freezing and thawing or when subjected to the liquefaction test hereinbefore described.

ESTABLISHMENTS

The 25th March 1901

No 21—The services of Mr H J McIntosh of the Indian Civil Service are placed at the disposal of the Finance and Commerce Department for employment as Deputy Secretary in that Department.

MEDICAL

The 28th March 1901

No 40—Colonel T H Hendley C.B., M.S. (Bengal) Inspector General of Civil Hospitals, Bengal, is granted leave out of India on private affairs under article 79 of Army Regulations India Volume I Part I for eight months, with effect from the 2nd April 1901 or the subsequent date on which he may avail himself of it.

The 29th March 1901

No 460—Lieutenant Colonel J McConighey, M.D., M.S. (Bengal) Civil Surgeon, Lucknow is appointed to officiate as Inspector General of Civil Hospitals Bengal, during the absence, on leave, of Colonel T H Hendley C.B., M.S. (Bengal), or until further orders.

JUDICIAL

The 26th March 1901

No 501—In Home Department Notification No 309, dated the 8th March 1901, granting furlough to the Honble Mr Justice Stevens, a Judge of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, for the "15th September 1901" read "10th November 1901".

The 27th March 1901

No 408—The Hon'ble Sir H. L. Prinscp, Kt a Judge of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, is granted furlough, with effect from the 6th April 1901, or from any subsequent date on which he may avail himself of it, to the 16th November 1901.

No 411—Under the provisions of the Indian High Courts Act, 1861 (24 and 25 Vict, C 104), section 7 the Governor General in Council is pleased to appoint Mr I. B. Taylor Indian Civil Service, Judicial Commissioner, Coota Nagpur to officiate as a Judge of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, during the absence on furlough of the Hon'ble Mr Justice Stevens or until further orders.

The 28th March 1901

No 421—Mr A. B. Miller, Official Trustee of Bengal, is granted leave of absence for eight months with effect from the 1st May 1901, under article 726 of the Civil Service Regulations.

LAND SALE NOTICES

Notification B

NOTICE is hereby given under sections 5 and 13 Act No. 18 of 1893 that all the surveys mentioned below are put on record before the next half yearly payment viz. 30th April 1901 the undivided 1/4 shares of the estate in the district of Puri will be put up for sale at the office of the Collector of that district on the 2nd July a P.M. for the sale price.

When in columns 5, 7 and 8 of the statement it is stated that only 1/4 share is to be sold at a 1/4 share and that a separate account is kept for that share and that the other 3/4 share or shares of the estate are sold for the whole.

Advertisement of Sale

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government as specified in the conditions of sale below to the undermentioned estates situate in the district of Burdwan will be put up to sale at the Burdwan Collectorate on the 22nd April 1901 corresponding with 9th Baisakh 1308 B S

Conditions of Sale

1st—The estates to be sold to the highest bidders above the upset price which will be fixed by the Collector at the time of sale. The purchasers of these estates will be considered as the proprietors of the estates and the entire proprietary right of Government in such estates will be transferred to them with effect from 1st April 1901 as revenue free or subject to the revenue fixed in perpetuity.

2nd—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings and by the laws in force and purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have filed the schedule of assessment prepared by the Revenue authorities.

3rd—If the amount of purchase money do not exceed Rs 100 the whole amount to be paid at once.

4th—If the amount of purchase money exceed Rs 100 one fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one or if that day be a close holiday then by noon of the first succeeding office day the sale will be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government) and the estate will be again put up for sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser after issue of advertisement as in the case of original sale.

The king found in the wood a hare which could assume the form of a beautiful woman at night. It was no other than the heavenly nymph Urvasi turned into that form through the imprecation of the sage Durvasa. Now Krishna wanted this woman and as the king was unwilling to part with her an appeal to arms became inevitable. The Pandavas supported the king while the Kauravas made common cause with Krishna. In the war which followed the Pandavas were victorious and the Kauravas were forced to confer themselves beaten. The incident was a device of Krishna to increase the glory of the Pandavas and hence the name.   | 714    |

He very nearly murdered his elder brother and tried to hug his nephew with the object of depriving him of his reason. But he was ultimately found out brought to justice and escaped with difficulty his victims helping him in his escape. Kiransasi is his adopted daughter and the play ends with her marriage with his nephew Charu Chandra. It is a good readable drama and the interest in the story is sustained throughout. Considerable skill is shown in the delineation of characters.  | 715    |

Sudharini the manufacturer of the movements in the story goes up a meeting of educated ladies at the Town Hall at which resolutions were passed to petition Government to throw open the Civil Service to them and to create a fund with the object of sending them to England for education. Funds were subscribed liberally but Sudharini appropriated the proceeds for his own use. This coming to the knowledge of his wife Kuntal she decided to bring an action to be instituted against her husband and had him sent to jail. But the object with which she undertook this was frustrated by her lover Sarat Chandra having taken a fancy for a widow. In a fit of jealousy she stabs Sarat and his sweet heart to death and the catastrophe ends the play. | 716    |

The plot is asfollows—The sage Viśvāmitrawho had obtained Brahmahood   | 7      |
| through the practice of austerities was told by king Janaka that his price was still far below that of a real Brahman. To test the truth of this he went to the hermitage of the sage Gautama and was struck by his meekness of behaviour which was in strong contrast with his own insolent carriage. To test the sage's power of self control he induced him to leave his young wife for a time and to start on a distant journey. During his absence from the hermitage Indra seduces his wife and then casts her off after a time. Ahalya resented this slightly by stabbing the faithless god. The latter was however picked up by the wronged sage who on his return from the sojourn had repaired to his hermitage but finding it deserted had renounced the world and gone to Mount Kailāś where he met the god. Indra recovered from his wounds through the nursing of the sage and obtained a free pardon from him. The sage was equally charitable to his erring wife who after living for years like a beast in the deserted hermitage shunning and shunned by humanity had her eyes opened to her own misconduct through the words of sympathy and instruction addressed to him by Rāma Chandra and went to her husband to ask his forgiveness. She was forgiven and taken back with open arms. These and similar instances of Gautama's clarity and forgiving disposition greatly impressed Viśvāmitra and he admitted the correctness of Janaka's observation. The delineation of Gautama as an ideal Brahman and the gradual evolution of his character have been executed with superior art and skill. The characters of Ahalya as well as of the servant couple Chiranjīva and Mādhurī are equally well done. The author has developed dramatic genius of superior order and the book abounds with passages of great beauty and originality. |                       |         |                        |   |                        |                                       |   |   |        |

The name of the young man was Chandra Chandra, and that of the woman Siddhi. She is a copy of Bankim Chandra's Devichandur and supplies the element of romance in the story. The scene of the story is laid in Bengal in the first half of the last century. The characters of Siddhi Chandra's wife Prabhavati and his old and faithful servant Rama Chandra are fairly well drawn. The book is written in fairly good Bengali | 717    |

The girl in consequence commits suicide on the day of her marriage her mother dies of grief and the father blows his brains out with a revolver. Although some of the characters viz. Raman Mohan Sarat Kumar and Susila are delineated with some skill there is nothing noticeable about the plot and its development, and the conclusion of the story is both abrupt and unexpected. It is written in a prolix in different style. | 76     |

Vijnanálal falls to the share of a youth who marries her simply to spite his rival in love and is consequently neglected by him. Nevertheless she tries to discharge her duty towards her husband to the best of her power. There is nothing noticeable either in the language or in the plot. It is a silly thing altogether.  | 76     |

It mentions in detail the route to the shrines and gives a description of the rest-houses to be found on the way. The style of the book though abounding in slips of grammar and spelling, is elastic and enlivened by quaint humour. |     |

As only fragments of old commentaries on this difficult and abstruse work are available and as the commentary by Raghunāth though complete is as hard as or even harder than the text the work has up to this time practically remained a sealed book to all students of Hindu philosophy. The present edition therefore which besides containing fragments of old commentaries is accompanied by an easy commentary by the learned editor will have removed a long felt want and revived interest in the study of Buddhism by Indian Pandits | 89     |

The Report on the Annual Administration of the Opium Department for the year 1899-1900 (1st September 1899 to 31st August 1900)

UNDER the recent orders of the Government of India the reports of the two Opium Agents are not attached to the Board's present report. This has required an adaptation of the Opium Agents' tables and statements for incorporation in the present report. In the result the Board have remarkably consolidated and shortened their report, and give grounds for still further improvement in the future. The tour of Mr Baillie, the Opium Agent for Benares, was most comprehensive and useful, and throughout the Benares Agency the shortest tour of the departmental officers was longer than the longest tour in Bihar. The Board notice this, and there is abundant evidence that in the Bihar Agency there is special need of close enquiry and check, and the Board will doubtless ensure that the officers' tours are longer and more thorough. The Bihar officers check measured some 10,000 less plots during the year under report than in the preceding year, and in the plots so measured there has been a rise and not a fall in the proportion of failure to cultivate. The percentage of such failures is far higher in the Bihar than in the Benares

Agency, and demands the most careful attention from the officers of the Department. The Lieutenant Governor hopes to see a marked improvement during the ensuing year. The proposal to utilise the patwari agency of the North Western Provinces for reporting poppy areas in the Benares Agency was accepted by the Government of the North Western Provinces and Oudh. With the approval of Government, the scheme, however, was not put into execution during the year owing to the employment of the patwaris on census work.

2 The increased area engaged for in the Bihar Agency cannot be considered as indicating a genuine increase in the popularity of the crop: it was due to a special cause, viz., the long term settlement accompanied by large advances in the Mirhut Sub Agency. The cultivators, however, took advantage of the system to obtain loans, free from the interest they would have had to pay to the money lenders, without the intention of maintaining the settlements for the term of years stipulated, and the Board have accordingly rightly discontinued the system. In the Benares Agency there was a very remarkable increase in the area engaged for, which the Lieutenant Governor is glad to observe was not confined to any particular division. Much of this result is due to Mr. Baillie's judicious tour to the various centres, where settlements were being made, and the report indicates the three direct causes that led to the increase. The most remarkable proportion of the increase is in the triangular tract of country comprised between Bareilly as the apex and Etawah and Bara Banki to the west and east, respectively.

3 The average outturn per bigha in the Bihar Agency showed a fall of 3 chitaks as compared with last year, whereas in Benares it exhibits an increase of some 2 chitaks. This was directly due to the very unfavourable season in the Bihar Agency. The first sowings failed owing to absence of rain, but the lands were resown on rain falling in November, and the crop promised well, when in January a severe hailstorm wrought great havoc to the crop. In the Benares Agency, on the other hand, the rainfall was favourable to the crops, and the year was very free from insect pest. Severe damage was, however, caused to the crop by hail in the Azamgarh and Ghazipur Agencies. In Bihar there was a decrease in the irrigated area and in the money advanced for wells, the explanation advanced for which is that the good rain from July—September filled the ghats and tanks, rendering irrigation from them practicable. This is not, however, quite consistent with the large increase in failures of the land sown during the year under report.

The Lieutenant Governor has read with interest the remarks with regard to advances for wells on personal security being increased from Rs. 50 to Rs. 100 and that refunds should be made in three instalments. A good irrigation supply for poppy is all important, and anything that can be reasonably done to increase the popularity of loans for the construction of wells he will welcome.

4 He agrees with the Board's remark about making the boundaries of licenses conterminous with those of revenue mauzas: the mauza varies so greatly in size that any such general rule would be injudicious. The idea of the mauza as a unit may be a good one, but the essential aim should be to assign to the lambardars areas which, while admitting of their being effectively supervised by one person, will still afford sufficient remuneration to attract a good class of men.

5 The Lieutenant Governor is glad to notice that Mr. Blyth was able to arrange the friction that had occurred between the department and the indigo planters in regard to their claim on poppy lands. In the Benares Agency, sugarcane cultivation was the chief rival to poppy.

6 It is satisfactory that at Ghazipur it was possible to manufacture at a consistence within the standard, and that Government therefore was saved the loss that it has suffered for many years past. Climatic conditions, prompt weighing, and the efforts of the officer to induce the cultivators to keep down consistence contributed to the success. Bad weather and the scanty yield caused a rise in the consistence of the opium from the Bihar Agency, but this is another matter to which the Bihar officers must give their special attention.

7 The prejudice against the preparation of leaves still continues in Bihar and the shortage was made up from Benares. It will probably be necessary to revise the system of classification and payment, and proposals to that end have been made to the Government of India. No definite remedy has so far been devised to obtain a larger supply of pure pasewa from the cultivators in the Benares Agency. His Honour will await with interest the continued experiments which are being made. He is glad to observe that the adulteration of opium with soapstone has been detected, and trusts that the prompt punishment of the offenders will have a wholesome effect.

8 The Lieutenant Governor agrees with the Board in holding that Mr Tytler's proposal to abolish the system of final payments according to factory assay is impossible until a more scientific method of classification by the local authorities is devised. He notices with regret the large outstanding balance from the Ichta Sub Agency, and he agrees with the Agent that efforts were not made early enough for its recovery by the officer in charge. The Ghazipur Division also shows a large outstanding balance, which is attributed to the damage wrought by hail. This no doubt wrought much havoc, but Azamgarh was also reported to have suffered very severely from this cause. There would appear to be no prima facie reason why the balance outstanding should be so large in the case of Ghazipur and comparatively small in that of Azamgarh. With regard to items shown as irrecoverable careful enquiries should be made and a report submitted for permission to write them off.

9 The standard outturn of 54,000 chests of provision and 7,000 to 8,000 mounds of excise opium enjoined by the Government of India was not reached because the average outturn per bigha was lower than that on which the Government of India had based their normal requirements. Subsequently at the suggestion of the Government of India the standard requirement has been fixed at 48,000 chests provision opium plus the ordinary excise requirements. Cultivation will be regulated accordingly.

10 The agreement to supply Messrs. Buggoyno, Burbidges and Company with a monthly supply of opium alkaloids does not, in view of the repeated analyses made by the Chemical Examiner to Government of the murriates of the Company and their allegations of the impurity of the Government supply, appear satisfactory. The Lieutenant Governor awaits the further report promised.

11 The expenditure for the year under review showed a decrease in the Bihar Agency of over 8 lakhs and in the Benares Agency an increase of over 30½ lakhs. The reasons for the decrease and increase fall under the same heads in both Agencies, viz., cost price of opium, there being a short and large outturn in Bihar and Benares, respectively.

12 The Lieutenant Governor notices that the Bihar Agent is of opinion that very little opium is retained by the cultivators for smuggling purposes. In the Benares Agency, on the other hand, it seems, judging from the case of the organised gang who were convicted for adulteration, that retention on a large scale is common. The Lieutenant Governor, while agreeing that inquisitorial proceedings are not advisable, would again call the attention of the Agent to the necessity of impressing on all officers the need of keeping a careful watch on all cultivators whose outturn is habitually short. The statistics of convictions, fines and rewards seem to indicate, as the Board observe, a relaxed activity in the administration of the Opium laws. In view of the probable increase in the illicit trade with Burma, vigilance must not be relaxed.

13 The Lieutenant Governor is pleased to observe the continued successful working of the alternative asamiwar system in the Aliganj Sub Agency. The success that attended its introduction in Bettiah and Tirhut have led the Government of India to sanction its extension to the rest of the Agency, with the exception of the Hazaribagh Sub Agency. The Government of India in May 1899 asked for a report as to the possibility of introducing the asamiwar system into the Gorakhpur and Basti subdivisions. The Agent's reply is embodied in the Board's report. It appears that the system has been introduced with much success in Gorakhpur, where a personal attendance of 92 per cent of the cultivators was secured. In Basti cultivators take very small advances, and the percentage there is not so high. The Lieutenant Governor observes that the experiment of packing opium of the first class in bags has turned out well this will result in a considerable saving of expense over the old system of packing in jars, and he trusts that the continued experiment in the same direction with regard to second class opium will eventually prove equally successful The result of the experiment which will be undertaken in Muzaffarpur with a view to the utilisation of the survey maps and settlement records is awaited with interest

14 In conclusion the Lieutenant Governor desires to place on record his thanks to the Hon ble Mr Oldham for his exceptionally able administration of the department during his term of office in the Board The services of Mr Bailhe during the year have been of prominent value The commendations of other officers of the department by the Board of Revenue will be noted

Government of Bengal Resolution No 2074 Marine, dated 30th October 1900
Report of the Committee appointed to enquire into the working of the Calcutta Port Trust, dated the 15th March 1901

Resolution—In the Resolution of the 30th October last the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal appointed a Commission to enquire into matters connected with the Port Trust of Calcutta. The Commission consisted of the following gentlemen—

- |  |                    |
|--|--------------------|
| The Hon ble E N Baker, c s i   | } President |
| • The Hon ble G H Sutherland, President of the Chamber of Commerce and partner in the firm of Messrs Begg Dunlop and Company |                    |
| The Hon ble Sir Allan Arthur, Kt, partner in the firm of Messrs Ewing and Company  | } Members   |
| Sir Patrick Playfair, Kt, c i e, partner in the firm of Messrs Barry and Company   |                    |
| Mr F G Dumayne Secretary of the Bombay Port Trust  |                    |
| „ A Muirhead, General Traffic Manager G I P Railway  |                    |
| „ J Lightfoot, Manager Eastern Bengal State Railway  | } Secretary |
| „ E R Gardiner, Under Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department   |                    |

2 The Commission held twelve meetings and took evidence, both orally and in writing, from any gentlemen who wished to state their views. The Commission inspected all parts of the Trust property and visited Luff Point with reference to the proposal to construct coal docks at that place. A Sub Committee of the three expert members of the Commission fully investigated the methods of working, the duties of the staff, the financial results of the operations of the Port Trust, and, generally, the state of efficiency of each branch of the administration of the Trust. The report of the Sub Committee is an appendix of the Report of the Commission.

THE THREE QUESTIONS REFERRED TO THE COMMISSION

3 The issues, referred to the Commission, were—

- (1) How far can the present management of the Port Trust be improved—
  - (a) with regard to efficiency?
  - (b) with regard to economy?
- (2) Should the profits of one part of the Trust property be used to meet deficits on another, or should they be kept entirely separate?
- (3) Should the offices of Vice-Chairman and Chief Engineer be separated, on the expiration of the term of office of the present incumbent and, if so, what other changes, if any, in the present organization are desirable?

4 With reference to the first question numerous suggestions are made to increase the efficiency of the various departments of the Trust, and the Commission makes various proposals which are estimated to produce, partly by economy in present expenditure, partly by re-adjustments in existing rates and charges, and partly by increase in rents and miscellaneous receipts, a net annual improvement of nearly 5½ lakhs of rupees in the financial position of the Trust. On the other hand, certain named additional capital expenditure is advocated.

5 The reply given to the second question is, that the Commission considers that the operations of the Trust should be treated as a whole, and that the contention that each department should be independent and self supporting cannot be maintained.

In regard to the third question, the Commission points out that there is no difference of opinion on the main point, and recommends, without hesitation, that the posts of Vice Chairman and Chief Engineer should be separated. The Lieutenant Governor, with the concurrence of the Commissioners of the Port Trust, has already given his approval to arrangements which will give effect to this recommendation. Various recommendations are made concerning less important questions connected with the establishment of the Port Trust.

FINANCIAL CONDITION OF THE TRUST

7 The Report refers to the fact that, when the Commissioners of the Port entered on their duties in 1870, they took over from Government four jetties and some minor works of improvement of the river bank, and leased the Strand Bank lands. At that time they accepted a capital debt, which was subsequently expressed as Rs 17,65,000, representing the value of the Port Block made over to them. During the thirty years which have intervened, the Trust has developed and increased their property, so that the book value of the block now stands at more than 570 lakhs of rupees, and the Trust has nearly 36 lakhs accumulated in reserve and sinking funds.

The Report refers to the development of the Port Trust in these words —

“For this Capital expenditure the work done by the Trust may be summarised thus — It has greatly extended the jetties and the accommodation provided in connection with them; it has furnished special accommodation for the petroleum trade and tea trade, the coal trade and the salt trade, and is now providing similar facilities for the wheat and seed trade. It has supplied the shipping with a Graving Dock, and is now building a second. It has lined the Calcutta bank of the river with wharves for the convenience of the inland trade, and has made similar, though less extensive arrangements on the Howrah bank. It has constructed a railway on both banks of the river and has provided a fully equipped Dock for which demands have been made at intervals from so far back as 1781.”

8 The report points out that the main heads of expenditure of all Departments of the Trust, in 1899 1900, may be stated thus —

|                                    | Rs               |
|------------------------------------|------------------|
| Establishment                      | 16 38 897        |
| Working expenses                   | 15 44 509        |
| Repairs, renewals and depreciation | 7 58 328         |
| Rent and taxes                     | 2,63 624         |
| Interest and sinking fund          | 22,99,174        |

and, referring to the manner in which the accounts of this expenditure is presented, it is stated that the Commission had frequent occasion to endorse the view of their Sub Committee that “the mass of information published in the Administration Report of the Trust is much of it unnecessary while the mode of stating it is confusing misleading and, in some cases, inaccurate.” The Commission recommends a system of accounts for consideration. The Lieutenant Governor considers it a matter of importance that the forms of account should be improved and simplified.

9 The Report points out that the heaviest item in the total expenditure of Rs 66,53,495 is the charge for interest and sinking fund on the capital debt. This debt stands thus —

|  |                   |

10 This debt is of three kinds —

Page 10 paragraph 27

|   |                   |
|---|-------------------|
| Balance of Government consolidated loan | Rs26 03,299   |

|   | <hr/> 4 44 09,465 |

Under existing arrangement the first of these loans will be liquidated in 1910. The Commission proposes that the Port Commissioners should raise a new debenture loan, having a currency of thirty years, to pay off this Government loan. The effect of this will be to postpone the ultimate liquidation of this part of the debt from 1910 until 1931, with the result, of course, of immediate financial advantage to the Trust. This advantage is estimated at an annual sum of Rs 1,69,140. The Lieutenant Governor anticipates that this proposal will meet with the approval of the Port Commissioners.

11 The Government dock loan of Rs 2,87,70,566 is, under existing arrangements, to be paid off in 1937 by a sinking fund which will not be instituted until 1910. At present the Port Trust pay only the annual interest (Rs 11,50,823), which is due on this debt. The Commission suggests that the period of repayment of the Loan should be extended to 1951, that is, to sixty years, from the year 1891, when the Docks were held to have been completed. The report says —

“We are of opinion that, in the case of permanent works of such a nature as the Kidderpore Docks, the period of repayment might reasonably be extended. We are informed that the Trustees of the Port of Bombay have, with the consent of the Government of India, recently formed a General Sinking Fund for the extinction of the whole of their Capital Debt, both to Government and to the public calculated so as to extinguish the existing debt in sixty years; also that the City Improvement Trust, Bombay has authority to issue loans repayable in sixty years. We understand, also that sixty years is the period fixed by the Treasury authorities in England for the liquidation of loans, for works of a durable or permanent character, raised by local authorities. We consider that, in virtue of these precedents, the Government of India might be asked to extend the period of repayment to 1951, or sixty years from the date of completion of the Docks.”

The Lieutenant Governor again anticipates that this proposal will have the support of the Commissioners of the Port Trust, and the Chamber of Commerce.

12 With reference to the Debenture Loans of Rs 1,30,35,600, the Commission points out that they must, of course, be liquidated according to the terms prescribed at the time of issue, but the recommendation is made that the Calcutta Port Act be amended, so that, in future, the Sinking Funds necessary to liquidate new loans should be on the basis of repayment in sixty years.

This proposal is in accordance with the existing practice and the law in the case of the Bombay Port Trust. The Report says —

“We recommend that section 24 (1) of the Calcutta Port Act be amended so as to bring it into uniformity with the Bombay Act. In Bombay debenture loans are not usually issued for a longer period than thirty years, but the Trustees are not required by law to, and do not in practice, provide a Sinking Fund sufficient to liquidate their loans within thirty years. They provide a Sinking Fund sufficient to liquidate all their loans within sixty years, and, when any loan falls in, they liquidate it partly by means of the Sinking Fund and partly by issuing a fresh loan for the balance'

The Lieutenant Governor will await the opinion of the Port Trust and of the Chamber of Commerce in this matter

13 The report of the Commission shows, in a statement No 4, Appendix C, of the Report, that the effect of the proposals with reference to the three classes of loans, would be to place the general financial condition of the Port Trust in the following position —The consolidated Government Loan Rs 26,00,299, would be paid off in 1930, the Government Dock Loan would be paid off in 1901, the present Debenture Loans of Rs 1,80,35,600 would be paid off as they become due and this would be done, not only without any additional burden on the annual charges of the Port Trust, but with an immediate saving of Rs 1,69,140 a year, and, if the annual charge on account of Interest and Sinking Funds were maintained at its present figure, with the possibility of raising new loans of approximately the same amount as the existing Dock Loan (287 lakhs)

14 The Commission is not able to propose any material reductions in the other main heads of expenditure of the Trust, but proposes certain changes which will produce the following improvement in the annual revenues —

|   | Rs       | Rs       |
|---|----------|----------|
| Annual saving on interest and sinking funds | 1,69 140 |          |
| Other savings                               | 80 732   |          |
|   | <hr/>    | 2 49 872 |
| Increase of rates and charges               |          | 2 25,000 |
| Increase of rents and miscellaneous         |          | 66 500   |
|   |          | <hr/>    |
| Net improvement                             |          | 5,41,372 |

and this improvement is calculated without reference to any probable increase in the trade of the Port, or to certain economies in the cost of repairs, working expenses, and handling charges, which are recommended generally, but can not be accurately stated

On the other hand, the Commission proposes additional expenditure on various improvements

15 These considerations bring the conclusion that, if the proposal to base the Sinking Funds on a period of sixty years instead of thirty years be accepted, and if the economies and increases in revenue just mentioned are effected, the financial position of the Calcutta Port Trust will be a very strong one. The Trust will be able to carry on their present operations, and to incur additional capital expenditure, to at least the extent which is meanwhile advised to be necessary, without any increase in the total annual expenditure of the Trust

SPECIAL TOLL

16 The Special Toll, which is now levied under section 108 of the Calcutta Port Act, is annually imposed only if, in the words of the law, "on the preparation of the estimate of any year, it shall appear that the estimated income * * * after deducting therefrom the estimated expenditure * * * will be insufficient for the payment of the sums which * * * will be payable during the year" This toll in short is, at present, a resource which is only to be applied when it becomes absolutely necessary to enforce it in order to adjust the income to the expenditure of the Port Trust

17 The Report of the Commission recommends that the "Special Toll" should be regarded in quite another light, and that its designation should be altered. It is pointed out that on the Mersey, the Clyde and the Tyne, a "River due" is regularly levied, and that the circumstances of the Port of Calcutta make such an impost specially applicable. The Commission recommends that this

"Special Toll" should be changed into a "River due" and made the main permanent source of revenue of the Port Trust, and that the charges made for landing, shipping and for special services rendered should be the varying elements in the Port Trust Revenue, to be adjusted, from time to time, in accordance with the financial position. The present rate of four annas per ton weight of cargo is recommended for all goods, except coal, on which the Commission proposes that the "River due" should be one anna a ton. This is the one part of the Commission's recommendations on which there is likely to be a difference of opinion, and the Lieutenant Governor, before coming to a final decision, will hear what the Port Commissioners themselves and the Chamber of Commerce have to say. The arguments of the Commission have been very temperately stated, and they possess all the force of the unanimous opinion of a Commission nominated by the Chamber itself of the men who from ability and experience are likely to present a wise advice.

JETTIES

18 The Commission points out that it has been stated that the importer is being heavily overcharged at the Jetties to enable the Port Trust to meet deficits caused mainly by exports. But the accounts of the Jetties, as they are kept at present, include the figures referring to many special services, such as the Petroleum Wharf, the Tea Warehouse, the Piece goods Warehouse, and others. If these are eliminated, it will be found that the results obtained from the Jetties alone only give a return of about  $5\frac{1}{2}$  per cent on the capital cost of the Jetties, and less than that if the value of the land on which they stand is included.

19 The Commission refers to the question of dealing with both imports and exports at the Docks instead of the present system under which imports are mainly dealt with at the Jetties, and exports in the river and at the Docks. The conclusion of the Commission is that, at present, it is not possible to modify the existing practice.

20 The complaints made of the want of space and alleged mismanagement at the Jetties are very fully discussed by the Commission. Definite recommendations are made with reference to (1) large increase in the accommodation by the erection of sheds of two and three storeys in place of the present single storeyed ones, (2) the rearrangement of the Railway lines and the provision of hydraulic capstans, &c, (3) new warehouses for uncleared goods, (4) new cranes, and other matters, in order to improve the facilities for clearing goods. Recommendations are also made about the system of Jetty management, and about the accounts kept in the sheds and warehouses. Certain recommendations are made concerning the rates and charges.

21 Concerning the accommodation for the coasting trade, the Commission recommends the erection of two jetties on the embankment now used for this trade, which would be a substantial improvement on existing arrangements. In the case of the inland vessels wharves, the Commission recommends that the Port Trust should provide sufficient shed accommodation for inland vessels traffic as they do for ocean going steamers. Various recommendations are made with reference to the rates, charges and accounts connected with the Tea Warehouse and Petroleum wharves. All these questions are, primarily, for the consideration of the Commissioners of the Port. They will, no doubt, submit to Government estimates for carrying out such works as may appear to them desirable.

STRAND BANK LANDS

22 * Concerning the Strand Bank lands the Commission makes suggestions concerning the rents and charges, which will increase the revenue of the Trust.

HARBOUR MASTER'S DEPARTMENT

23 The Commission makes an important suggestion regarding the scale of charges for mooring hire which, it is suggested, ought to be revised. The present scale was fixed in 1873, when the average tonnage of vessels was much less than at present Vessels over 3,000 tons, which now visit the port in considerable numbers, pay at present a uniform rate of Rs 15 a day only. A suitable sliding scale of rates would bring in a considerable increase in revenue. The Commission also recommends a revision of the charges as between Government and the Port Trust of the River and Dock Police, which the Lieutenant Governor will be glad to consider if definite proposals are submitted to him.

PORT TRUST RAILWAY

24 Important suggestions are made concerning the management of the Railway. In this matter the report of the Sub-Committee of Experts is especially valuable. In the first place, the Commission recommends that the main line, along the river face from Cossipore to the Docks, should be improved in various ways, but that the chief thing is to provide two clear lines for up and down traffic by rearrangement of the sidings.

25 The view has been expressed, in some quarters, that the management and working of the Port Trust Railway is not a function of the Port Trust at all, but that it would be better if the entire railway were given over to one of the large Railway Administrations. This opinion does not find favour with the Commission. One member of the Commission, whose opinion carries much weight, proposed that the foreshore line from Cossipore to the Dock should be made over to the E. B. Railway, but the majority of the Commission were opposed to this proposal, mainly on the ground that the intervention of a foreign railway in the business of the port would not be beneficial. Again, certain members of the Commission recommended that the working of the Dock junction, which is a short section of the railway, which takes off from the Budge Budge branch of the Eastern Bengal State Railway and runs to the Docks, should be handed over to a Railway Administration to work. On this subject the Commission is not unanimous in their recommendation, but the majority are opposed to the proposal, and recommend that the junction should remain under the jurisdiction of the Port Trust. It is said —

“Our principal reason is that it is in our opinion altogether against the best interests of the port to allow the terminal arrangements to pass in any way out of the control of the Port Trust and into the hands of a foreign agency, specially one whose primary object must necessarily be the earning of dividends rather than the provision of facilities for trade. No such alteration of the authority of the Trustees would, in our judgment, be justifiable, unless it were conclusively shown to be necessary on either administrative or financial grounds or both. In the present case this has not been done.”

On this question the Lieutenant Governor is of opinion that the views expressed by the majority of the members of the Commission are right.

KIDDERPORE DOCKS

26 The Commission points out that these Docks have absorbed more than half the capital debt of the Port Trust, and that any financial difficulties of the Trust centre round them. Since the Docks came into general use in 1897-98, the annual deficits, including the charges on the debts, have been —

|                     | Rs.       |
|---------------------|-----------|
| 1897-98 actuals     | 15,37,394 |
| 1898-99 „           | 14,67,949 |
| 1899-1900 „         | 14,42,111 |
| 1900-1901 estimated | 13,09,401 |

The deficits, though large, show a steady tendency to slow improvement. But the sinking fund on the original Government Dock loan of Rs 2,87,70,568 does not come into effect until 1910, a fact which has to be borne in mind in regarding the above deficits. The figures show the importance of efficiency and economy in the Dock management.

27. The Commission mentions the original scheme of a second Dock, and, referring to the question of the present accommodation for ships taking general cargo (excluding coal), estimates that the total volume of general cargo dealt with at the Docks, during the last two years, was less than one third of that which could have been dealt with, and the opinion is expressed that any expansion of the accommodation for general cargo will not be necessary for many years to come. The report then continues —

“When, however, expansion does reach the point at which additional berths become a necessity, these can readily be provided by gradual extension in a way similar to that in which the coal berths have been constructed. The accommodation can be kept a little in advance of the traffic by the provision of one or two berths at a time. No large capital expenditure is, therefore, required at present, and if it should be needed hereafter, it can be foreseen and spread over a number of years.”

28 Concerning the coal trade, the Commission has presented most interesting information. This is the most important individual trade for which accommodation is provided at the Docks, and it is one which was not contemplated at all when the Docks were constructed. The Commission points to the rapid development of the trade in export coal as evidenced by these figures —

|                           |                 | 1895 96 | 1896 97   | 1897 98   | 1898 99   | 1899 1900 |
|---------------------------|-----------------|---------|-----------|-----------|-----------|-----------|
| Total exports*            | Tons            | 815,533 | 1,103,760 | 1,622,564 | 1,792,414 | 1,681,919 |
| Shipped fromthe docks | Tons            | 105,842 | 386,490   | 672,747   | 877,895   | 870,347   |
|                           | Percentage. | 12.9    | 35.0      | 41.4      | 48.8      | 51.7      |

while the total in the year 1900 reached 2,345,758 tons. The Commission considered various estimates of the probable further extension of the trade, and reached the conclusion, based, mainly, on figures supplied by Mr. Cable, that the rapid increase of the past few years was not likely to be maintained, and that the total probable exports from Calcutta during the next two or three years will, probably, not exceed 3,000,000 tons, of which, possibly, 2,300,000 tons may pass through the Kidderpore Docks.

29 The Commission points out that the four existing berths at the Docks are capable of dealing with more than 1,200,000 tons a year, and that the two new berths, now under construction, will provide, even with coolie labour, for 600,000 tons more. Mechanical appliances for loading coal are about to be introduced, which will increase this total delivery materially, and, if two berths only are provided with such machinery, the Kidderpore Docks will be able to ship 2,400,000 tons a year, which is above the estimate, made by the Commission, of the probable demands on the Docks. The Commission recommends that two berths only should be provided with mechanical appliances for loading, which, it is thought, should be sufficient for the necessities of the near future.

30 The Commission refers to the proposals which have been made to establish a separate Dock for coal alone, and remarks that such schemes can only be justified if it can be shown that the result would be an economy in the charges on the trade. It is said —

“The trade of the Port must eventually bear the whole of the charges involved in such proposals. As long as existing arrangements suffice—and we believe they will suffice for many years to come—any proposal for large capital expenditure elsewhere to supplement them seems altogether premature. We have no desire to dogmatize on so uncertain a matter, and we are perfectly alive to the possibility that our forecast of the future course of the coal trade may be falsified by results. But it is the best we have been able to make after careful weighing of the information placed before us. And if, as we anticipate, it proves to be approximately correct, we are clearly of opinion that the total volume of the export trade in coal, present and prospective, is not sufficient to make it economical or necessary to divide it between two ports of shipment.”

The information collected by the Commission with reference to the coal trade, is of great value. It is now manifest that the Port Commissioners were wise in making provision for the two additional coal berths only, which are being constructed. There is every reason to think that they are likely to be sufficient for some time to come. It is clear also that the Kidderpore Docks will be easily able to provide the facilities which the trade is likely to demand, at a far less cost and in a far more convenient manner, than an entirely new Dock, at another site, could do. The Port Commissioners have decided, on the advice of a Committee, which reported on the mechanical loading question, to fit one of the new berths, at once, with loading machinery of the type which is the less expensive of the two systems which were proposed, and with reference to the other berth, to await the experience gained in the first case. The Lieutenant Governor has approved this decision, and he is constrained, with regret, to agree in the general conclusions which the Commission has reached regarding the coal trade. The facts and opinions, which have been recorded, will be of great assistance to the firms engaged in that trade.

31 The Commission gives its support to the system of labour supplied by contractors, which is current in the Docks, rather than to that of departmental labour which has been advocated. Very little is said about the cost of the present system except that, in the case of the coal labour, the Commission says that there is no evidence to show that the payments are excessive, and in reference to the cost of handling other goods, which is paid to contractors, that the 6½ annas per ton appears to be excessive. The Lieutenant Governor considers that this question of the cost of labour merits the further and special consideration of the Port Trust.

32 After making various proposals concerning other matters connected with the administration of the Docks, the Commission refers to the supervising staff entertained there, and suggests that material reductions in the staff should be made which might effect an economy of about Rs 40,000 a year in the working expenses, irrespective of other possible reductions.

WORKSHOP AND STORES

33 The Commission recommends that the Workshop and the Stores Department should be transferred from the supervision of the Deputy Conservator and placed under the Engineer. It would appear that the Commission doubts whether the administration of these Departments is as economical, in some respects, as it might be, and suggests that expert advice may be taken as to the administration of the Workshops and as to the possibility of reorganising the staff of Mechanical Engineers. The method under which repairs are carried out, without the previous preparation of estimates, is faulty, and should be corrected.

GENERAL

34 The Commission makes many subsidiary recommendations which are not mentioned in this note, and in concluding the report the Commission refers to all its criticisms and proposals in these words —

“We by no means wish to leave the impression that the management of the Trust, as a whole, calls for condemnation. It is probable that if a close investigation were to be made into the working of other large commercial or public undertakings in this country or elsewhere there are very few which would emerge scatheless in every point of detail. That the Port Commissioners have sometimes made mistakes in the past they would themselves doubtless freely admit. They have sometimes failed to accurately forecast the course of trade. There has been some tendency to extravagance in respect of establishments, repairs and contingent charges. There has occasionally been delay in providing the full facilities required for particular branches of trade. They have not always employed their resources to the best possible advantage. To these defects we have adverted in the course of our report, adding such suggestions for improvement as recommend themselves to us.”

“But neither individually nor collectively are they of sufficient weight or importance to form the basis of any general charges of either insufficiency or disregard of economy. On the contrary, it is our unanimous opinion that, as a whole, the work of the Trust has been well done and that, to use the words of our Sub-Committee, the Trustees ‘have not been unmindful of the duty, which lies on them, of improving facilities and of providing in advance for the expansion of traffic.’”

35 In this conclusion the Lieutenant Governor concurs. In his Resolution appointing the Commission he said that the complaints before him did not contain the information which would lead him to doubt the efficiency of the Port Commissioners' management The Commission's report discloses certain specific instances of mismanagement and miscalculation, but certainly disproves the general and sweeping charge of mismanagement brought against the Commissioners in some quarters. The Calcutta Port Trust is an enormous undertaking, and is annually expanding. That it should have emerged from so minute an examination with so large a degree of credit, is, in the opinion of the Lieutenant Governor, an outcome which the Commissioners and their officers may view with satisfaction. He desires to express his warm appreciation of the services rendered to the Port of Calcutta and to the commercial community by the members of the Commission, who have given so much time and labour to the report they have submitted. The work must have been a heavy one to all, and not least to those gentlemen who have given their services freely for the public advantage at the expense of their own private interests and business. The report is a most thorough one, and it cannot fail to materially aid in the future good management of the Trust to the great advantage of the trade of Calcutta and of India.

By order of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal,

R B BLACKLEY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal

The mean pressure of the seven days

The average pressure of the corresponding period for 24 years, Surveyor General's Office

The total number of hours of bright sunshine

The maximum possible number of hours of sunshine

The mean temperature of the seven days

The average temperature of the corresponding period for 24 years, Surveyor General's Office

The extreme variation of temperature

The maximum temperature

The highest velocity of the wind in one hour

The mean relative humidity

The average relative humidity of the corresponding period for 24 years, Surveyor General's Office

The total fall of rain from 24th to 30th March 1901

The average fall of the corresponding period for 24 years, Surveyor General's Office

The total fall from 1st January to 30th March 1901

The average fall of the corresponding period for 24 years, Surveyor General's Office

The mean pressure, temperature &c, are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No 86, formerly at the Surveyor General's Office

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph

The mouth of the rain gauge is one foot above the ground
